SORTING OUT: Federal agents sort and catalog an arsenal seized from an apartment in New Baltimore, Mich., Wednesday that had been leased to Gary

Rogers. The arsenal included mortar rounds and a 40mm cannon. Rogers surrendered to the FBI in Miami, Fla., Wednesday. (AP Wirephoto)

Big State 'Arsenal' Is Seized

NEW BALTIMORE, Mich. (AP) — A 31-year-old Michigan man surrendered to federal officials in Miami after a bomb squad found an arsenal including mortar rounds and a cannon crammed inside his vacant apartment here.

Authorities were to continue removing the ammunition explosives and weapons today from the two-bedroom apartment in this city near Port Huron.

The unit is leased to Gary Rogers, who was charged Wednesday with illegal possession of firearms in violation of the Federal Firearms Act. He will be returned to Detroit for trial, the FBI said.

When Rogers surrendered, he was carrying a duffel bag containing "clothes and personal stuff and a couple boxes of small arms ammunition," according to the FBI in Miami.

A Miami FBI agent said Rogers "isn't saying much, but he says he's an arms dealer — but he doesn't have a license."

Federal agents estimated their haul from the apartment weighed 15,000 pounds. FBI agents said the cache was capable of "leveling the entire (10-building) complex" where Rogers lived.

Inside the apartment, agents found weapons everywhere except in one bedroom. Shells were arranged neatly on the top of a bookshelf. Weapons also were stashed in a basement storage space assigned to Rogers.

The residents of the other 15 apartments in the New Baltimore building were evacuated Wednesday while Army ordnance experts began removing the arsenal.

"We have so much of it out there that we have had to send a firearms expert out to catalog it," said Bob Powell, assistant special agent in charge of the Detroit office of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

"There was so much stuff there that I wasn't even familiar with some of it," Powell added. "A lot of it looked like new ordnance."

The search warrant listed what FBI agents said was only a small part of the cache: one case of 10 60mm. mortar rounds, barrels and parts of the mechanisms of .30- and .50-caliber machine guns, a total of 138 blasting caps of various kinds, 45 practice hand grenades and other training explosives, fuse lighters, fuse cord and "full-release, pressure sensitive booby traps."

U.S., Cuba Agree On Fishing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Cuba have reached agreements governing fishing within the U.S. 200-mile zone, the State Department announced today.

One agreement governs fishing within the zone and another focuses on a preliminary boundary between the 200-mile zones declared by both countries.

A spokesman said details of the agreements will be announced later.

Doctors Quitting State

By PIET BENNETT
Associated Press Writer
Thousands of physicians apparently have decided to quit practicing in Michigan.

All the figures aren't in, but records from the Michigan Health Council show that since last year, the state has lost 3,506 of its licensed physicians.

"I've never had a drop like that," said John Doherty, the council's executive vice president.

Council figures obtained Wednesday show Michigan had 16,070 medical doctors licensed on March 1, 1976, along with 2,740 osteopathic doctors.

By Feb. 28 of this year, only 13,543 medical doctors had been relicensed, although the number of licensed osteopaths had risen by 21 to 2,761.

But medical doctors who had not applied for licenses or provided evidence of the newly required 50 hours of continuing medical education by March 1 were given an additional 20 days to do so.

Bert Brennan, director of the Michigan Medical Practice Board, said Wednesday he should have revised licensing figures covering the 20-day extension tallied by Friday.

More than 40 per cent of the medical doctors not seeking new Michigan licenses were licensed in another state besides Michigan, according to the council's data. That category accounted for 1,889 M.D.s who did not seek license renewal. But the number of osteopaths in that category rose by 10.

Doherty blamed the sharp decline upon "a combination of things — the Single Business Tax, the malpractice thing and the continuing education requirement."

He noted osteopaths have had a continuing education requirement for some time but regulations exempt physicians over the age of 70 while the one governing medical doctors does not. Council figures showed Wayne County lost 319 medical doctors although it still has 3,014 licensed. Washtenaw County lost 102; Oakland County, 100; Kent, 58; Genesee, 33; and Macomb and Ingham lost 29 each.

Hospital Cost Plan Praised

DETROIT — United Auto Workers Union President Leonard Woodcock praised President Carter's new program for hospital cost containment.

Woodcock on Wednesday called it "an important step in overcoming the inertia which has prevented needed change in America's health care system."

Upton Leaving Health Council

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Three persons have been appointed and two reappointed to the state Mental Health Advisory Council by Gov. William Milliken. Barbara J. Reader of Farmington Hills, president of the Michigan Association of Community Mental Health Boards, was named on Wednesday to replace David Upton of St. Joseph. The governor's office said Upton indicated he did not desire reappointment to the council. The St. Joseph man has served on the council since it was created in 1966 and is a former chairman. Clement C. Veesser, assistant director of the Catholic Diocese of Gaylord, succeeds David Neal of Ann Arbor. Thomas G. Ellis, an administrator at Michigan Tech University, replaces John X. Jamrich of Marquette. Reappointed were Eloise C. Whitten of Detroit and Laurence J. Bollinger of Midland.

Carter Was Right; Popularity Slips

NEW YORK (AP) — President Carter predicted his popularity would drop at least 10 per cent after he called on Americans to make personal sacrifices as part of his tough energy program. He was right.

According to an NBC poll released Wednesday night, 53 per cent of the 1,587 adult Americans surveyed said Carter was doing a good or excellent job in the White House. Sixty-three per cent expressed that opinion in March. The latest poll was taken Monday and Tuesday.

To the question, "What kind of job do you think Jimmy Carter is doing as President?" 11 per cent answered "excellent"; 42 per cent replied "good"; 31 per cent said "fair" and 8 per cent responded "poor." Another 8 per cent said they were "not sure."

Three other questions asked by the poll were:

— "Do you think the Congress should approve President Carter's program on energy?" Forty-nine per cent answered "yes"; 32 per cent said "no" and 19 per cent were "not sure."

— (Asked of automobile owners only) "President Carter has proposed a tax on the purchase of new cars with poor gas mileage and a tax rebate for people who buy cars with good gas mileage. Would this proposal make you ...

"Buy a smaller car next time," 26 per cent; "keep the present car longer than you planned," 33 per cent; "make no difference in your car-buying habits," 36 per cent. Three per cent were "not sure."

— "Do you approve or disapprove of the gasoline tax which would be put into effect if the public does not conserve gas?" Thirty-six per cent said they approved; 55 per cent said they disapproved and 9 per cent were "not sure."

Shuns Commandment, But He Takes Prize

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP) — When the Calvary Baptist Church here held a contest for people who arrived for last Sunday's services using energy-saving transportation methods, first prize went to a man who showed up in a four-wheeled pedal cart. But another Holland resident, watching news coverage of the event on television, recognized the prize-winning cart. It had been stolen from him. Police said the pedal-cart has been returned to its owner, who is considering whether to press charges against the man who stole it and won the prize — a Bible.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

It's A Curious Way To Conserve Energy

As more details of the President's proposed gasoline tax rebate plan unfold, some glaring inconsistencies are beginning to appear. Apparently they have caught the attention of the administration spokesmen who are leading the argument in favor of the Carter program. Some of them now are touting the scheme as a benefit, not a hardship, for consumers.

They could be right about that. If they are, it is a curious way to conserve energy. One of the examples presented by the administration, for example, is of the family traveling 10,000 miles per year in a car averaging 27 miles to the gallon. That family, under the Carter plan, would pay $91 a year in added fuel taxes, but would be entitled to a $500 tax rebate — assuming the standby tax was 25 cents a gallon.

If that isn't an invitation to consume fuel, it will do until a better example comes along. Another inconsistency is the plan to provide the gasoline tax rebate — at the rate of $25 per person per year for each 5 cents of additional tax — to be sent even to those who do not drive.

It is beginning to appear that the administration has confused an energy conservation program with welfare and income redistribution reforms, all of which would greatly enhance the control of the federal government over the lives of each citizen.

Postal Formula Based On Politics, Not Profit

A private business operation which advertised that it was going to cheapen its product, shorten its hours and raise its prices, even though it was showing its first profit in years, would not be expected to survive very long. That is the essence of the program suggested by top officials of the United States Postal Service.

As with so many government agencies (and that is what the Postal Service basically remains despite its reorganization), it is sometimes difficult to sort fact from trial balloons.

Whether the service actually realized a small surplus in its latest fiscal period could be due more to accounting procedures than expense curtailment.

But assuming the service has managed to bring its costs under better control — largely through a reduction in manpower — what would eliminating Saturday deliveries and raising postal rates again by next spring do to its future business? What makes that question difficult to answer is the monopolistic nature of the bulk of the Postal Service's business, first class mail. Even that protected status could be changing with the inroads of electronic transmission of communications.

The service is not private enterprise, which means the decisions affecting its future probably will be as much influenced by political considerations as economic ones.

'Normalizing' Relations With Communist Vietnam

Somehow it seems longer ago. But it has been only two years since South Vietnam fell to the Communists and the remaining Americans and thousands of Vietnamese were evacuated. The South Vietnamese government surrendered on April 30, 1975. After more than a decade of American combat in which countless thousands of lives were lost and billions of dollars spent, the struggle to prevent a Communist takeover ended more with a whimper than with a bang. There were few reports about what was happening in the months that followed and Vietnam, which had dominated headlines for years, seemed at last relegated to what one American called "the obscurity it so richly deserves."

But as President Carter moves forward what he has called "the normalization of relations" between the United States and a unified Vietnam, that country is once again in the news. In March, a special presidential commission headed by United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock visited Hanoi and recommended that "the normalization process be pursued vigorously." Soon after meeting with commission members on their return, Carter declared that "every hope we had for the mission has been realized." The President announced that he had accepted Vietnamese Prime Minister Pham Van Dong's proposal that the two countries begin "diplomatic discussions in Paris without delay" and with "no preconditions."

Those talks will open in Paris on Tuesday, May 3. Among the issues to be discussed are the fate of more than 2,500 Americans still listed as missing in action, the lifting of the U.S. trade embargo, and economic aid to Vietnam. Many observers are predicting that the two sides will move quickly toward establishing relations. This assessment stems in large measure from U.S. business interest in taking advantage of Vietnam's favorable foreign investment policies and Vietnam's need for American financial and technological assistance, particularly for offshore oil exploration and drilling.

The establishment of normal relations with Vietnam and the return of American officials to that country could encounter some unexpected opposition from those in the forefront of the anti-war movement. The reason is the Communist government's violation of human rights. Theodore Jasquaney, an employee of the Agency for International Development who resigned over American support for the previous South Vietnamese regime, recently wrote: "Grim accounts of human rights violations in Vietnam, once fragmentary and unconfirmed, are now increasingly provided by consistent eyewitness accounts."

CLAIMS STOVER IS PERSECUTED

Editor,
Sure glad you didn't leave Victor Stover out of your article on the four escapes from the Berrien County Jail.

I have been so used to reading every two or three weeks about him, I would have really been disappointed if you would have left him out.

I don't think just because a man made a mistake, if he did, he should be persecuted time after time.

The situation was put in the paper and explained, everybody knows what they read about Mr. Stover. He's not the first that lost a prisoner and I am sure he won't be the last.

Since he has left the Berrien County Jail, and works at the same hospital I do, I find him to be a very sincere, co-operative — outstanding person.

Oh, by the way, wasn't one of these escapes the same one Mr. Stover lost?

SHE OBJECTS TO FOREST SPRAYS

Editor,
Goud grief! Haven't we learned anything from the PBB mess? I was startled to read in Friday's paper that a broadcast application of the herbicides 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T has been approved for Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

These defoliants are from the same chemical family as PBB and PCB. I was one of the nursing mothers who shelled out $43 to test my milk for those two chemicals. Fortunately, my levels were below average. Will we have to check for 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T next year?

Pardon my terse attitude. I am so angry I'm having trouble writing this letter. Those herbicides have been shown to cause birth defects in experimental animals and are almost unbelievably toxic. They have also been shown to cause impotence, depression and other serious effects in herbicide factory workers. One related product, when experimentally used as a diaper rinse, caused the death of several newborns who merely wore the diapers!

The high concentrations of impurities in 2,4,5-T combined with combustion (Remember last year's UP fires?) could cause a wide chain of accumulation felt far from the original 73-acre application. A 1971 study of these herbicides by Biometrics Research Laboratories (Littion Industries Subsidiary) concluded: "These results imply a hazard ... in the use of this compound 2,4,5-T. The problem of accurate extrapolation precludes definition of the hazard — but its existence is clear." In view of all this, why does the Forest Service declare that "it need not prepare an environmental impact statement?"

The health of future generations is worth more than $40,000 to $60,000 of red pine timber. Perhaps though, someone involved in this application feels I am overly concerned. After all, the most serious accusation I make is that these herbicides defoliate could cause birth defects. That problem, some would argue, can be solved by aborting the affected "product of conception" and starting over. Why is the dollar the almighty balance in this society? Isn't the health and life of even one unborn child worth more than $40,000? I am writing to our state officials and legislators against the application of 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T. I strongly urge you to contact them also.

LAKESHORE READER QUESTIONS MILLAGE

Editor,
Lakeshore school board is seeking an additional three mills tax levy for three years. They tell us that this will add $60 a year to the tax on a $40,000 home with a $20,000 assessed valuation. There is nothing wrong with their arithmetic. They also say that they do not need it either for debt retirement or for operating. They wish to build up a reserve fund "for emergency."

Voters need to be careful as to what funds they give the school board to tap at its discretion. There is entirely too much pressure from school administrators to provide "better quality education" by way of better salaries for themselves.

With only two votes in opposition, the Berrien board of supervisors Thursday agreed to have the old courthouse in St. Joseph torn down. They agreed to turn the old structure that served as county courthouse from 1895-1966 over to the City of St. Joseph's urban renewal program for demolition.

Construction bids will be opened next Friday for expansion of Benton Harbor's Mercy hospital. The project calls for 93,280 square feet of floor space in a new four-story wing and remodeling of 15,000 square feet of existing space. Cost of the total development, including new parking, is estimated in the "neighborhood of $5 million" according to Leon Gideon, president of the board of trustees.

Primary Better Than Old Way

WASHINGTON — The politicians who never have been notably enthusiastic about popular participation in the process of selecting the two major parties' presidential nominees have some new, but not necessarily valuable, ammunition.

It comes in the form of a study of "Participation in American Presidential Nominations, 1976," written by Austin Ranney and just published by the American Enterprise Institute, a Washington research organization.

Ranney is a highly respected academician and a past president of the American Political Science Association, but his study unnecessarily denigrates the statewide primary election as a means of selecting delegates to the two parties' presidential nominating conventions.

No fewer than 30 states conducted presidential primaries last year, with much of the new-found popularity for that process a direct result of the program of institutional reform which the Democrats initiated in 1968 and which now has affected both major parties.

But the proportion of the voting age population which participated in those primaries was an abysmal 28 per cent, far lower than the shameful 54 per cent of the electorate which turned out for the general election for president.

Citing that low turnout in primaries, Ranney concludes his study with this negative view of the process:

"Whether nominations made by these special primary electorates will achieve the goals claimed for them of more representative conventions, more legitimate nominations and greater general popular support for our system is still an open question."

"All we can say on the basis of what we have learned about 1976 is that they have not yet done so."

But that approach is reminiscent of the timeworn joke in which one man asks, "How's your wife?" and his companion replies, "Compared to whom?"

Ranney's study presents some fascinating comparative figures which show that in the 21 states which last year retained the more conventional method of selecting national convention delegates, a process which usually begins with precinct caucuses and ends at state conventions, only 1.9 per cent of the voting-age population participated in the caucuses.

In other words, participation of eligible voters was approximately 15 times higher in states with primary elections as in those with the caucus-and-convention system.

Moreover, numbers alone cannot fully reflect the impact of the democratization of the process during the past decade. In some states, the delegate selection process used to begin with unpublicized "precinct caucuses" in the corner of a neighborhood bar, the basement recreation room of a local party satrap or even the cab of a political functionary's pickup truck.

Consider President Carter's home state of Georgia, where last year 30.5 per cent of the voting-age population turned out for the primaries, a figure only slightly higher than the national average of 28.2 per cent for all primary states.

That's a long way from universal participation, but it differs greatly from the system used in the state as recently as 1968, when party reform rules forced Georgia Democrats to open up the process.

In those bad old days, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee unilaterally appointed the state party chairman. That state chairman, with the advice and consent of the governor, then selected Georgia's entire delegation to the national convention.

Ranney is correct in noting that turnout in the primary process is hardly something to write home about. But the participation of 502,371 people in last year's Georgia Democratic primary is surely an improvement over a system in which two men performed the same function.

African Scramble Beginning Anew

A vast second scramble for Africa is now underway.

During the later years of the 19th century, the principal nations of Western Europe competed fiercely for territory and influence in Africa. Great Britain, France, and Belgium led the way. Portugal had long been on the scene. Germany struggled to gain a foothold and even the Italians joined in.

Year by year, decade by decade, European explorers, traders, and settlers pressed forward into regions ever less hospitable, but sometimes fabulously rich. Thus Cecil Rhodes bought the famous Kimberley Diamond Mine — the Big Hole — with the largest personal check ever written up to that time. Rhodes made it out: "Five million three hundred and thirty-eight thousand six hundred and fifty-eight pounds, only."

The symbolic expression of the apogee of European power many consider to have been queen Victoria's 1897 Diamond Jubilee.

European power suffered a traumatic lesion on the Western Front in World War I; World War II completed the damage, and around the globe European power went into rapid retreat. It is against that background of European decline, weakness and withdrawal that the French intervention in Zaïre, modest though it has been, constitutes such an encouraging sign.

Today, as in the 19th century, a scramble for Africa is under way — not, so far, by Europeans, but by the dynamic and expansionist Soviets, their Cuban clients, and instruments, and, to a lesser degree, by the Chinese.

The French intervention indicates that President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing understands what is taking place and what is at stake. Despite official denials, it is hardly conceivable that he would have acted without Washington's concurrence and encouragement.

No doubt we will be hearing a great deal about the "internal" and tribal character of the struggle in Shaba Province. It is true that the Luba tribesmen invading from Angola have traditionally been at odds with the Bakongo tribe which is dominant in Zaïre.

But only the liberal media take at face value the claim of the Carter Administration that the degree of Soviet-Cuban involvement is "unknown."

The Cuban army runs Angola, from which the invasion was launched. The bases, training camps and logistical arrangements necessary for this operation could not exist in Angola without Cuban sponsorship, which, of course, means Soviet sponsorship.

The West in general and France in particular have a substantial stake in Zaïre and in Shaba Province. Since 1963, the French have established especially close relations with the Zaïre central government, and French companies have established large interests in cobalt, copper, and diamond mining. The Cuban-Soviet move has in its sights fabulously rich Shaba Province.

Enter, therefore, M. Giscard, authorizing French transport planes to carry 1,500 tough Moroccan troops to Shaba Province, where they have already gone into action against the invaders. French paratroopers from the Mobile Force are also on the scene as "instructors." Belgium has sent weapons. Egypt may send troops. China and West Germany have pledged support.

BURLING DOOLITTLE

BH Senior Citizens Housing Proposed

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

The construction of a $5.4 million subsidized high-rise apartment complex for senior citizens is being proposed for vacant urban renewal land near the old fruit market site in Benton Harbor.

A representative from Multi-Rise Associates, the Southfield development firm proposing the 200-unit apartment complex, met with Benton Harbor city commissioners in a workshop session last night to explain the project.

Benton Harbor city commissioners present last night made no commitment toward approval of the project. Several commissioners said they would have to wait until the city purchases the land from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) before a decision can be made.

The city is currently negotiating with HUD to purchase the entire 41 acres of urban renewal land located in the old fruit market and Riverview drive area.

The proposed site for the senior citizens complex is on approximately five acres of land between Colfax avenue and Eighth street bordered by Britain avenue on the south and Market street on the north.

Burling Doolittle, a "packager" for Multi-Rise Associates, said the high-rise would be constructed with financing through the Michigan State Housing Development Authority and said a property tax abatement would be sought from the City of Benton Harbor.

He also said senior citizens will receive a federal subsidy for a portion of the rent. Units will be mostly one-bedroom, Doolittle said, and would rent for an estimated $300 a month.

Butler said federal subsidies for rents would be based on income with the tenant paying 25 per cent of his income for rent. He said, as an example, a single woman receiving $220 a month in Social Security payments, would pay $55 per month for rent. The federal government would subsidize $245 per month to pay the $300 rent for the apartment, Doolittle said.

Under the property tax abatement, the developers, who would also manage the apartment operation, would pay a charge for services offered by the city such as police and fire protection, in lieu of paying property taxes.

The city's decision on whether the land will be developed into a senior citizens apartment complex depends on city purchase of the land, and if the city wants apartments there with tax abatement, according to City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr.

Farmer said the developers would have to buy the land from the city once the city acquires it from HUD. Doolittle said his firm has offered $71,000 for the land, but said the city has not yet accepted it or granted an option of the land.

Rezoning would not be required if the land is sold for the apartment complex, Farmer said last night. The land is currently zoned commercial and the complex could be built on the land without a zoning change, he said. However, the city might be required to receive approval from HUD to change the land-use plan for the urban renewal land, according to Farmer.

The construction of the subsidized apartments is under a loan program developed by the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) in which private developers own and manage the project.

The profit from the development, according to Doolittle, comes through the establishment of a "limited dividend corporation," a group of investors who are limited by MSHDA to receiving no more than 3 per cent profit from their investment.

Because of the limitation on profit, the private investors can use the loans and liabilities generated by construction of the apartments as a tax write-off, according to Doolittle.

The development firm, itself, makes a profit from the apartment complex by syndicating the investment (selling shares) to private investors who want to use the apartment's liabilities as a tax write-off, according to Doolittle.

Hull's Terra apartments in Benton township were financed through the MSHDA and was granted tax abatement.

Benton Harbor currently has 100 federally-financed public housing units for the elderly in Harbor Towers on Wall street.

Woman Headed To Trial Court

Victoria A. Hollis, 29, of Benton Harbor, waived preliminary examination in Berrien Fifth District court Wednesday and was bound over to circuit court on an open murder charge in the death of her husband, John P. Hollis, 31, was found shot to death on June 21, 1976, in the bathtub of the Hollis home on Pavone street.

On April 5, 1977, the Hollis couple's son, Tommy, 3, died of injuries allegedly from a beating. David J. Hall, 29, identified in court testimony as a boyfriend of Mrs. Hollis, has been charged with murdering Tommy. As part of a plea bargain Mrs. Hollis will be allowed to plead guilty to second degree murder of her husband in return for testimony in the homicide of her son. Prosecutor John Smietanka said last week during a hearing for Hall. District Judge Hugh Black yesterday ordered Mrs. Hollis returned to jail without bond. She is represented by Benton Harbor Atty. St. Joe Downtown 'Team Plan' Eyed

BY LARRY MacINTYRE
Staff Writer

The St. Joseph Downtown Development authority yesterday instructed its executive director, Steven A. Reed, to negotiate a "team effort" among three firms to design a State street improvement project.

Basic goals are beautification of State street with landscaping, and improving vehicular and pedestrian traffic flows. Exact designs are to be produced by professional consultants.

The authority acted yesterday after members heard presentations of design ideas from four firms seeking a contract to do the preliminary design work. Authority members chose Barton-Aschman and Associates, Evanston, Ill., to act as the head firm.

Two other firms were chosen to work on certain portions of the project. They are D.J. McGrath and Associates, St. Joseph, and Townscape, Medina, Ohio.

Reed is to negotiate a contract with Barton-Aschman and see if the other two firms would be willing to work under Barton-Aschman.

Also making a presentation yesterday but not chosen was Wightman and Associates, St. Joseph.

"This is part of an innovative approach," Reed said following yesterday's meeting.

"Instead of picking just one, we're going to negotiate and see if we can come up with a team effort."

Reed said that no cost had been determined on the design work yet. He said the entire project, including construction, would run "well in excess of $100,000."

Ronald Momany, St. Joseph's director of community development, has been instructed to investigate various sources of funding for the project, Reed said.

The project calls for a semi-main concept along three blocks of State street from Ship to Elm streets.

The project also calls for a block by block study of building facades. Designs would be prepared showing possible renovations and signs for each structure that would be in harmony with the project, Reed said.

Property owners would be encouraged to use those designs in their renovations, Reed said. The Townscape firm specializes in design work involving older buildings, he said.

The project designs are expected to be completed by the fall of 1977. Construction is targeted for the spring of 1978, Reed said.

Atty. George Keller, chairman of the authority, said the project is part of an overall revitalization program aimed at upgrading the downtown area so it can successfully compete with other business and shopping areas.

The authority was created by the St. Joseph city commission under state statute. The authority is empowered to levy up to two mills in taxes on real estate within its boundaries.

LMC Coed Wins $6,000 Grant

A Lake Michigan College fine arts student, Rose Gebhard, of Stevensville, has been awarded a $6,000 Grand Valley State College Presidential scholarship with which to complete her education at GVS beginning next fall.

Announcement of the award was made by letter from Arend D. Lubbers, GVS president, which stated: "I personally would like to congratulate you on your selection. Your application was reviewed by a committee of faculty and staff members and selected from a potential list of over 200 applicants. Twenty Presidential Scholars were then chosen and therefore you are among a very select group."

Miss Gebhard is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gebhard, of 5255 Cleveland avenue, Stevensville. While attending LMC, she earned a 3.85 grade point average on a 4.00 scale. The scholarship funds will be made available to her at the rate of $1,500 each academic year providing she meets the renewal criteria established by GVS.

Miss Gebhard's major academic emphasis at LMC was art, and she plans to continue studying art at Grand Valley. Pencil and charcoal drawings are her principal media with acrylic painting a close runner-up. The Stevensville coed is planning a career in commercial art and advertising.

Doctor Licensing Defended

LANSING (AP) — The executive director of the Michigan Medical Practice Board defends his agency's failure to notice California's revocation of the medical license of a surgeon who practiced in Michigan for four years after that. The board's three clerks and office manager do not have the time to check the newsletter of the Federation of State Medical Licensing Boards, the Michigan official, Bert Brennan, said. "I tell you you just can't cover all the waterfronts," Brennan said. In Fort Worth, Texas, Mabel Fisher of the federation staff said the revocation of the license of Dr. Dale Q. Funnell by California authorities was reported in the newsletter in the summer of 1972.

BH Senior Wins $1,000 Grant

Stephen H. Snyder, 17, a senior at Benton Harbor high school, has been selected to receive a $1,000 grant from the Educational Foundation of the National Society of Professional Engineers.

Snyder, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Snyder, 3300 Territorial road, rural Benton Harbor, was nominated for the grant by the Blossomland chapter of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers.

He will use the money to study engineering, first at Spring Arbor college and later at the University of Michigan.

The National Society of Professional Engineers is awarding 73 grants and scholarships this year to students selected in nationwide competition. The grants are funded by industries, colleges and society members.

Student Teachers Curtailed?

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — The number of student teachers in several Macomb County school districts has been curtailed sharply because of agreements between school boards and the Michigan Education Association, according to the Macomb Daily. The newspaper reported it has learned that the number of student teachers entering an already glutted market has been restricted in at least six schools in the county. An assistant to MFEA President Herman Coleman said the state MEA, described by some as a teachers' union, has been setting student teaching quotas for member chapters for the past five or six years. Student teaching experience is a requirement for teacher certification by the Michigan Department of Education.

Crim Backs Milliken Plan

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — House Speaker Bobby Crim says President Carter's energy proposal is no reason to hold up the governor's transportation package, which also calls for a gasoline tax hike. The Davison Democrat, who is to announce Monday whether he'll run for governor next year, said he agrees with potential opponent Gov. William Milliken that work on the package must go forward. Carter has proposed a standby gasoline tax hike of five cents a gallon each year if Americans don't voluntarily curb gas consumption. Milliken's $144.8 million transportation package would include a two-cent-a-gallon hike to help provide more money for streets, highways and public transportation.

Whirlpool Veep Named Director

Whirlpool Corporation's board of directors Wednesday declared a quarterly common stock dividend of 25 cents a share and elected Lloyd A. Wampach, a vice president of the company.

Wampach has been general manager of Whirlpool's laundry group since July 29, 1976, and will continue to be responsible for operations of the group and Whirlpool's manufacturing divisions in St. Joseph, Mich., and Clyde, Findlay and Marion, Ohio.

The 25-cent dividend is payable June 15 to common stockholders of record on May 25. It is the second 25-cent dividend declared by Whirlpool after paying 20 cents for several years.

Wampach joined Whirlpool in 1955 as manager of corporate personnel. Other positions he has held include director of corporate compensation, director of industrial relations at Clyde, director of manufacturing engineering for the laundry group, and general manager of the Marion division.

A native of St. Cloud, Minn., Wampach has a bachelor of business administration degree from the University of Minnesota and a master's in business administration from

Lakeshore Art Show

CHAIRMEN: Chairmen for the seventh annual art show sponsored by the Lakeshore Art Guild will be, from left, Mrs. John (Ruby) Sprague, Mrs. Duane (Bonnie) Corn, and Mrs. Louis (Sandy) Voges. The show will be held Saturday and Sunday, June 18 and 19, at the Cook Nuclear center, Bridgman. In addition to local participation, it is anticipated that guest artists will include some representing the Academy of Art, Chicago, and the states of Florida, Indiana, and Michigan. The juried show will present a variety of media including oils, watercolor, pottery, portraiture, jewelry, woodcarving, Japanese brush painting, and tote. Some artists will also demonstrate their particular fields during the show. (Staff photo)

Designer Detail Important

Fashioned For Fall

By DOLORES BARCLAY
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Geoffrey Beene and Bill Blass do not miss a single detail in their designs. Their fall collections, both shown Monday, are celebrations in detailing and finishing.

Beene, for example, using quilting, sheepskin and lightweight wool, adds a touch of piping or otherwise finishes edges so that the final product is more rounded and soft. Blass double-faces practically everything.

The Beene collection emphasizes this American designer's penchant for elegant simplicity and femininity. His jackets, tops and skirts are cut wide and big, so one can work and move in them with great freedom and comfort. Layering is still in with Beene, as it is with most fashion observers on Seventh Avenue.

Day clothes in the Beene line had few restrictions on silhouette. Jackets were more masculine and big. A mid-thigh length jacket in red was open at the neck and had full sleeves. Bulky knit sweaters were long and heavy.

Coats were full, imitating the French smock look. One checked quilt coat had yet another unlined, lightweight coat over it. Both were worn with a dress. Sheepskin lined some coats, giving them an all-season function.

A few had the straighter lines and were more tailored. One long, narrow coat had the empire top, secured by a pull string.

Beene's evening clothes were simple, but had the layered approach. Vests were worn with tops and skirts. For the most part, these gowns were solid in color. He also showed splashy floral prints in red, green and tan.

Blass excelled with evening clothes, combining two or more interesting fabrics into slinky, elegant ensembles.

Most evening coats, dresses and wraps had a big ruffled clown collar. In pale gold, Blass showed a halter top with a back that dipped as low as Marilyn Monroe's gowns in the movie, "Some Like It Hot." Using gold lace, the designer showed a two-piece short skirt outfit, also with the ruffles.

A gold vest was added to a brown and gold speckled georgette gown. Cashmere and satin combined a black top and bright pink skirt. Black chiffon was combined with white blocks in another gown.

Blass took the opportunity to show his new furs by Maximilian. Gray fox, sable and mink highlighted the collection. Sable and fox were both used for the classic T-shaped coat.

To highlight a ruffled blouse, Blass used a black Russian broadtail shawl.

MONDAY MUSICAL CLUB

Announce May 2 Program For National Music Week

Monday Musical club program Monday, May 2, will be dedicated in honor of National Music Week May 1-5.

Theme of National Music Week is "Reaching Mankind Through Music." The week's observance is sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs of which Monday Musical club is a member.

The Monday Musical club program will be held at 1:30 p.m. at First Congregational United Church of Christ, St. Joseph.

Appearing in the program will be the Madrigal Singers of Benton Harbor high school under the direction of Cole Tyrrell. Also appearing in the program will be the winners of the Monday Musical sponsored scholarships for the summer of 1977 to Interlochen Music Camp.

The Madrigals, a group of 17 singers, have performed throughout the southwestern Michigan area at adjudicated and non-adjudicated festivals, and most recently received a first division rating at District and State Ensemble competition in performance and advanced sight-reading.

The Benton Harbor Madrigals were one of 15 groups selected to perform at State Ensemble Finals to be held in Alma. The Madrigals present a diversified program of classical and popular music.

Winners of the Monday Musical scholarships are: Diane Iannelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Iannelli, 2876 Dozer drive, St. Joseph, a senior at St. Joseph high school. Miss Iannelli is a flute student of Charlotte Wuepper.

Lori Shoemaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shoemaker, 1234 North Shore, Benton Harbor, is a junior at Benton Harbor high school. She is a piano student of Daira Langens.

Michelle Zebell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Zebell, 1224 Mohawk, St. Joseph, and a senior at St. Joseph high school. She is a voice student of Marilyn Lee.

Diane Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Smith, 1976 Salsburg place, St. Joseph, and a sophomore at Lakeshore high school. She is a flute student of Sue Warren.

Miriam Brohier is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brohier, 2832 Sandra terrace, St. Joseph, and a senior at St. Joseph high school. She is a voice student of Betty Hunt.

Mrs. K.A. Warner is program chairman for the meeting. Mrs. William Mayhall will be reception chairman and Mrs. Norman Smith will be tea chairman.

Hindu Dancing Sunday

Baha'i Program

Judith Semark, a Hindu Temple dancer, will appear in a special program of the "Bharata Natyam" style of Hindu dancing, on Sunday, May 1, at 2 p.m., in the home of E. C. Filstrup, 2829 Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph.

The program is sponsored by the St. Joseph Assembly of Baha'is.

"Bharata Natyam" is a 2,000 year old dance form. It was originally performed in the temples of southern India, where it was practiced by masters and disciples, and not made public until the 20th century.

Hindus believe that art forms, including music and dancing, are divine gifts, and that they are passed down from God to human beings by a special manifestation for the day.

The dance combines expression melody and rhythm to portray stories of the soul's journey back to the Creator. There are 48 hand gestures and 108 postures which the accomplished artist may use to portray the action.

Miss Semark has studied the form with Sudha Chandrasekhar for over two years, and made her debut with Sudha at the Diwali Festival in Ann Arbor, in November, 1975.

Among the selections which Miss Semark will perform on Sunday is "The Story of Tahirah," an enactment of the life of a Baha'i heroine and martyr. Tahirah, (pronounced Tah-harry) one of the earliest believers in the teachings of the new religion which swept Persia in the latter half of the nineteenth century, was already renowned throughout her native land as a poetess. This was, in itself, exceptional in a land and time where women were kept veiled, hidden, and illiterate.

Tahirah's short life was spent teaching the wives and female servants of her father's and husband's households to read and do simple arithmetic.

After hearing of the new

religion, called Babism, in the early 1840's, Tahirah embraced it at once. Among its teachings was the doctrine of the equality of women and Tahirah refused to wear her veil any longer. For this and her allegiance to the Babi teachings, she was strangled to death.

Judith Semark's dances are prefaced by an explanation related to the dance. Her costume is traditional.

Miss Semark says her goal is to blend the old and new, the East and the West.

Free Public Lecture

EAST LANSING — Susan Brownmiller, author of the comprehensive book "Against Our Will: Men, Women and Rape," will give a free public lecture, Saturday, April 30, at 8:15 p.m., at Michigan State university's Fairchild Theatre.

An active and outspoken feminist, Brownmiller spent five years in researching and writing her book which has been described as the "most intelligent" study every printed on the problem of rape.

The author takes the position that rape is an historical condition which underlies all aspects of male-female relationships and which has its origins in men and women's unequal physical power.

A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., Brownmiller has worked as a writer for Newsweek magazine and the Village Voice newspaper and as a TV reporter in Philadelphia. She was named one of the nation's most important and influential women by Time magazine in 1975.

Time magazine says of Brownmiller that her writings and theories "may significantly change the terms of the dialogue between and about men and women."

Her lecture is being sponsored by the Associated Students of MSU (ASMSU) Women's Advisory council, ASMSU Legal Services, and the student organization, Great Issues.

Potluck: Ideal For Senior Citizens

Just because you live alone doesn't mean you have to dine alone.

This is something to remember, especially for senior citizens who often have nutrition problems simply because it is too much effort to prepare a "proper" sit-down meal for just one person.

The solution, as many elderly singles have discovered, is to treat dinner as a party several times a week.

Here is a menu specifically designed for a senior citizens' dinner party. It's based on that perpetual favorite — the potluck! The hostess prepares a main dish, and one of the guests brings dessert. What could be simpler? With a minimum of time and effort, everyone dines heartily.

Food for this party meal provides excellent nutritional balance for this particular age group. Choosing foods from all four basic food groups, at this meal six people receive generous amounts of the ever-necessary protein at a sensible calorie level.

With all the beneficial ingredients that supply better than one-third of the Recommended Daily Allowances of calcium, iron, vitamins, A, B, and C, the calories per serving are also only one-third of the RDA's. This keeps the weight and waistlines under control for those who tend to be less active.

The main dish is a Quick 'n' Easy Beef Stew with dumplings. Choose inexpensive cuts of stew meat to spare the budget, and tenderize meat before cooking to spare the digestive system.

For dessert serve Almond Fruit Squares. Pass along the recipe when you ask one of the guests to bring dessert, and you will be doing everybody a favor. Not only will everyone enjoy the good food, they will enjoy the company.

QUICK 'N' EASY BEEF STEW WITH DUMPLINGS

(Makes six one-half cup stew and six one-third cup dumplings)

- One pound beef stew meat
- Instant meat tenderizer
- One-fourth cup flour
- One teaspoon salt
- One-eighth teaspoon pepper
- Two tablespoons oil
- Two cups water
- Two beef bouillon cubes
- One and two-thirds cups (fifteen-ounce can) tomato puree
- Two teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- One bay leaf
- One cup chopped onion
- Six small pared carrots
- One cup buttermilk baking mix
- One-fourth cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals
- One-third cup water
- One tablespoon chopped parsley, if desired
- One and one-half cups (ten-ounce package) frozen cut green beans

Tenderize stew meat with tenderizer according to label directions. Combine flour, salt and pepper. Coat meat with flour mixture. Brown meat in oil in large saucepan. Add the two cups water, bouillon cubes, tomato puree, Worcestershire sauce, bay leaf and onion. Cover; boil gently 45 minutes.

Cut carrots into one-inch diagonal slices. Add to stew. Cover; boil gently 15 to 20 minutes. Combine baking mix, instant milk crystals, the one-third cup water and parsley. Stir with fork just until mixed. Add green beans to stew. Return to low boil.

Spoon dumplings on top of stew. Cook, uncovered, 10 minutes. Cover; cook additional 10 minutes. Serve at once. Gravy may be thickened with flour-water mixture, if desired.

ALMOND FRUIT SQUARES

(Makes 12 squares)

- Eighteen graham crackers
- One-half cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals
- One-third cup water
- Three-fourths cup firmly packed brown sugar
- One-half cup butter
- One cup graham cracker crumbs
- Three-fourths cup (two and three-fourths-ounce package) sliced almonds
- One cup flake coconut
- One-half cup chopped dried apricots

Line bottom of eight-inch square dish with nine graham crackers.

Combine instant milk crystals and water in medium saucepan. Blend thoroughly. Add brown sugar and butter to saucepan. Heat over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat.

Stir in graham cracker crumbs, almonds, coconut and apricots immediately. Spread evenly over graham crackers in dish. Top with remaining nine graham crackers. Press down firmly. Frost with your favorite icing.

Cookbook Features Michigan Produce

Carole Eberly, Lansing correspondent for The Herald-Palladium, has published a cookbook, "MICHIGAN COOKING...and Other Things."

According to Mrs. Eberly, agriculture occupies the number two spot in the state's industrial scheme.

All the recipes in her book are based on the state's agricultural products. She says, "Most are good old favorites — Old Fashioned Apple Butter, Sourdough Starter and Bread, Michigan Baked Beans — but there are a few new recipes — Zucchini Bread, Soybean Lemon Sponge Cake — and a few strange ones — Roast Bear Paws, Asparagus Cookies.

Following are examples of the recipes contained in the book, including an old favorite, a new recipe and a strange one.

OLD FASHIONED APPLE BUTTER

Five pounds tart apples

Three cups apple cider
Four cups sugar
Three teaspoons cinnamon
One teaspoon cloves

Wash, peel, quarter and core apples. Bring apples and cider to a boil in heavy saucepan.

Reduce heat and simmer, covered, for 20 to 25 minutes. Puree apple mixture in a blender. Add sugar and spices, mixing well.

Pour puree into a shallow baking dish and bake at 300 degrees for two hours, or until thick enough to hold its shape. Pour into hot sterile jars and seal. Makes about 10 six-ounce jars.

SOYBEAN LEMON SPONGE CAKE

Two-thirds cup flour
Two-thirds cup soy flour
One-half teaspoon baking powder

One-half teaspoon salt
One cup sugar
One teaspoon cream of tartar
Six egg whites
One-half cup sugar
Six egg yolks
One-quarter cup water
Two teaspoons lemon extract

Mix flours, baking powder, salt and one cup sugar together. Add cream of tartar to egg whites and beat until stiff peaks are formed. Mix egg yolks with water and extract in separate bowl. Stir flour mixture into yolk and beat 30 seconds.

Fold into beaten egg whites. Pour batter into an ungreased tube pan. Bake 45 to 50 minutes until lightly browned. Invert pan on plate, but leave cake inside for at least one hour before removing.

ASPARAGUS COOKIES

One cup cooked, mashed asparagus
One cup raisins
One-half cup asparagus water (used in cooking asparagus)
One cup shortening
One cup brown sugar
One egg
One-half teaspoon salt
One tablespoon vanilla
One and one-half cup flour
One teaspoon baking soda
One and one-half cup rolled oats

Heat asparagus, raisins and water to boiling. Cover and let cool. Cream shortening, salt, vanilla, sugar and egg. Beat in flour and baking soda. Mix in cooled asparagus and raisins. Stir in oatmeal. Drop by spoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Bake at 325 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes. Makes about three dozen.

Copies of the book may be ordered from Carol Eberly, 430 North Harrison, East Lansing, Mich., 48821, at a cost of $2.75 per book plus 25 cents for postage.

Youth Summer Jobs Workshop

Summer jobs for youth is the subject of a workshop to be held, Saturday, April 30, at the YWCA, St. Joseph, from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

The workshop is open to all area high school students and registration is free.

Phyllis Roop, workshop coordinator, says, "This workshop is primarily for those youth seeking their first job. We will be providing information about work laws, social security cards, work permits, application forms and interviewing techniques."

The workshop will focus on who hires youth in the twin cities area, what you need before you apply for a job, and how to keep a job after you get one, the coordinator said.

A portion of the workshop will be on employee rights and responsibilities.

A section will also be devoted to those interested in developing their own businesses.

The YWCA is a participating member of the Blossomland United Way.

Name Luncheon Speaker

Mrs. David (Daisy) Hepburn, summer camp director at Minneapolis, Minn., will be guest speaker at the Christian Women's club luncheon, Thursday, May 5, at 12:30 p.m., at the Holiday Inn, Benton Harbor.

Mrs. Hepburn teaches crafts and Bible studies and speaks extensively. She and her husband, who is band director at Minnehaha academy, Minneapolis, are the parents of two children.

Physical director of the Benton Harbor YMCA, Dick Sharkey, will speak on a national exercise program, "The Y's Way to a Healthy Back."

Mrs. Charles (Roselyn) Upshaw, Berrien Springs, formerly a soloist with the Roger Wagner chorale, Los Angeles, will provide musical selections.

Reservations are $3.25 and may be made by contacting Mrs. A. W. Benson or Mrs. Nelson Burkett, both of St. Joseph. Cancellations are asked to be made prior to the luncheon.

Free nursery facilities for preschool children will be available from noon to 3 p.m. at the First Assembly of God, Benton Harbor.

Sewing Hints

By DOROTHY KING

One of the best ways to prevent a facing edge from rolling beyond the garment edge is to stitch the seam allowances to the facing on the underside if you do not wish to use top stitching.

Naturally, before doing this you will have completed a certain amount of your garment. After the facing is stitched in place and the seam blended and pressed, then the facing will be turned to the underside and eased under slightly at the seam line before pressing again.

To under stitch, turn facing and seam allowance away from the garment and stitch from the right side, through facing and seam allowances, close to the seamline. Since this stitching will not show on the right side, it will insure a nice neat neckline roll.

Under stitching can also be used on armhole facings.

When joining sections of interfacing and interlining to eliminate bulk, use a lapped seam or air-buffed seam.

To use a lapped seam, merely lap one edge over the other, with the seamlines meeting in the center. Stitch through the center, using a multiple-stitch zigzag or straight stitching. Trim if needed.

Use the abutted seam method in nonwoven interfacing of hair, canvas, muslin and similar fabrics.

Trim away the seam allowance on both sections. Bring the two edges together and pin over an underlay of a light weight fabric. The underlay should be one inch wide and slightly longer than the seam. Stitch from the right side, using the multiple stitch zigzag, widest stitch width, and 20 stitch length. Be sure the abutted line is aligned with the center of the presser foot. Straight stitching can also be used on each side of the abutment.

ATTENTION! Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in one week before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Engagement and wedding pictures are usually available at this newspaper office after publication for a short time.

Plan Organ Auditions

BRIDGMAN — National Organ Playing auditions will be held Thursday, May 5, at Collins Piano and Organ center, Bridgman.

Elizabeth Wiegand, Michigan City, Ind., will be the adjudicator.

Mrs. Wiegand, affiliated teacher of Sherwood Music college, Chicago, is a nationally certified member of National Association of Organ Teachers. She has been adjudicator for the National Federation of Music clubs and NAOT auditions. She is director of Interfaith choir of Michigan City, which appeared in two broadcasts on WGN-TV, Chicago. A writer-member of the American Society Composers, Authors and Publishers, Mrs. Wiegand is listed in the Piano Guild Hall of Fame.

The musician is a faculty member of the American College of Musicians, and a 1977 first place winner in the International Piano Recording competition. Mrs. Wiegand is an honorary member of Kimball Music Teachers Keyboard association, and a member of the American Guild of Organists.

She is organist at Queen of All Saints church, Michigan City, and editor of "The Independent Music Teacher newsletter."

Under the National Association of Organ Teachers plan, each student plays a program of three to 10 solos, ranging from pre-Baroque and classical to today's contemporary and popular selections before an outside educator assigned by the NAOT.

Learnners on all organs are eligible. Successful candidates earn certificates and pins denoting year's membership in the National Society of Student Organists. Superior yearly scores build credits toward scholarship.

A banquet will be held Tuesday, May 10, at Lake Michigan college, when National Organ and Piano association members will receive their pins and certificates.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Women 'Take What They Get'

Dear Ann: I've read your column for years and found it refreshingly realistic. But on one issue, you aren't smiling the coffee. I refer to your poll on "Would you choose the same mate if you had it to do over?"

It's not surprising that "three males" suggested the poll. Who else chooses? Women, except for the beautiful and/or the rich, have no choice. The average female takes what she can get.

Oh, sure, you'll hear from dozens of fantasizing females telling you about the husbands they might have had, but among them there are very few serious proposals. Mostly they are ego trips — products of the imagination.

Births are about equal between the sexes, but those in power are the males. They make the decisions about big money, jobs, wars, etc. They also choose their brides, as well as the younger second wife, and later on — the mistresses.

Your poll smells, Ann, and not like coffee. — Average Amy

Dear Ann: I agree that the ones on whom the gods have smiled kindly often get better breaks, but this goes for females as well as males. I apologize for second-guessing our founding fathers, but it just isn't true that all men are created equal.

The aroma of the poll may not have been fragrant, honey, but

Blind Alleys

Dear Ann: I'm 26, attractive and a top-notch secretary. This is the fourth time I've fallen in love with a man I can't have. Three of my romances have been with men in the corporation, all married and nearly twice my age. I had high hopes the last one would divorce his wife but I was wrong.

Why do I keep running into blind alleys and dead-end streets? Do I need a wig-picker or a swift kick in the caboose? — PDQ

Dear PDQ: Some women who become involved with men who are unobtainable don't want to get married. They subconsciously protect themselves by going after what they can't have. Therapy might reveal a side of yourself you don't know. Since you repeatedly set yourself up for misery it might help to find out why — so you can stop it.

Frank Talk

Dear Ann: A divorcee (about 30) lives in this apartment building. She has a five-year-old daughter. Our 17-year-old son practically lives at her place. He varnishes her floors, paints her kitchen and runs her errands. Hell could freeze over before he'd do anything for me.

I got mad at him last night because he was still up there at 11 p.m. I walked in without knocking. (My husband says I shouldn't have done it but I was boiling.) Well, I caught them with their arms around each other. They said they were dancing. (There was no music.)

What should I do now? — Fit To Be Tied

Dear Fit: Either you or your husband should have a frank talk with Junior and make sure he knows the facts of life. ALL of them. Telling him to stay away from the woman won't work. In fact, it would probably make him even more determined to see her. Forbidden fruit, you know.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious — lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Plastic Storage Safe?

Reports that the Food and Drug Administration has suspended its approval of throw-away soft-drink bottles made of acrylonitrile plastic may prompt some people to ask: Is it safe to store foods and beverages in plastic containers?

The answer to this is yes, according to home service adviser Pauline Church, especially if they are reusable food containers made by a reputable manufacturer using plastic that meets FDA specifications.

"With one environmental crisis following another, people are increasingly uncertain about what is safe and what is not — even to the point of concluding that all plastic containers are unsafe," said Church, who advises a leading houseware manufacturer.

"This is far from the case, even in soft-drink bottles," she added. "The recent FDA ban affects only one kind of throw-away bottle."

Church noted that, while high-density polyethylene is not the only plastic approved as safe for food packaging, it has certain properties that make it ideal.

"It resists sub-zero freezer temperatures without cracking or becoming brittle, thus providing maximum protection for all kinds of food," she explained. "Yet it also withstands boiling water. Containers can be placed in the top rack of a dishwasher, away from the heating element, or scalded for sanitation purposes — to keep illness from spreading, for example."

"Contents can be heated by placing a container, with the cover removed, in a pan of boiling water," she added. "And some can even be used in microwave ovens. Foods with very high grease or sugar content should be avoided here, however, since they may become too hot."

She also cautioned against putting the plastic containers in a regular oven or over direct heat, which would cause the material to melt. Heat from a range pilot light or oven vent can do damage, too.

Environmental research is a relatively new field. It first came to public attention less than 20 years ago with the "cranberry crisis" just before Thanksgiving, 1959. There have been numerous crises since, and there will doubtless be many more as science continues its efforts to improve human health and safety.

"The point is, don't jump to any conclusions before you've examined the facts of each case," Church counseled. "Not that any environmental crisis should be dismissed lightly. But neither should it create the kind of scare that undermines consumer confidence in practically everything."

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Being overly possessive could provoke a real donnybrook today. If you have such feeling keep them well hidden.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You could be prevented from completing a project today, but it won't be because you didn't try. Others are not working for you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're a bit susceptible today. If you're involved with sharpie types, accept nothing that they say at face value.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Flattery is music to your ears today. Others could use this fact for their own ends.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're unsure of yourself today. This may cause complications if you try to bluff your way through.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your ability to logically assess situations may desert you today and be replaced by wishful thinking. This could be costly in business.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) Don't be envious today. You must remember that you can count among your possessions things which others lack.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The spotlight's on you today. Your image may be a bit fragile. Don't do anything outlandish to aid your detractors.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Should you find it difficult to say something nice about a person, say nothing at all. A derogatory comment will long be remembered.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're more whim-conscious than bargain-conscious today. You could overspend just because you want something NOW.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Trying to be all things to all people just won't work for you today. Take a position then stick with it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Mistakes made by you or others who are working for you today could prove to be very costly. Check carefully!

By Oswald & James Jacoby

North and South really staggered into six hearts. Not that their bidding was bad, but rather that they almost stopped several times along the way.

While they were moving slowly on, West was doing something of his own and came to the conclusion that if they did bid a slam his best chance to beat the contract would be to lead his deuce of diamonds in the hope that he might cause South to refuse a diamond finesse that he would take later.

So, as soon as the bidding ended, West led his deuce of diamonds. There was no diamond finesse, but the lead did cause South to go wrong another way.

South went up with dummy's ace, led a spade, finessed the queen, cashed the ace, ruffed his last spade, cashed dummy's ace of trumps and was faced with the problem of getting back to his hand. He had to ruff a diamond.

He should have ruffed low. A 5-1 diamond break was less likely than a 4-1 trump break, but he did ruff high. This established West's 10 as a defensive trick and there was no way to pick up East's queen of clubs.

Ask the Jacobys

A Kansas reader asks if we open the bidding in first seat with:

▲ A X X X ♥ Q J X ♦ K Q X ♠ J X X

The answer is that this is one 13 high-card point hand that we pass in any seat. An opening bid is too likely to lead to a minus score.

Dentist Ups Ante In Suit

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP) — A Houghton dentist who says he is waging a battle for tooth-savers against tooth-pullers has added a $3 million damage suit to an $11 million action he has pending against his dental colleagues.

Dr. Robert R. Nara named the Michigan State Board of Dentistry as defendant in his latest suit, filed Tuesday. The earlier one names the American, Michigan and Copper Country Dental associations.

Nara, 40, charges the dental groups with taking actions which violated his constitutional rights and provisions of the Federal Trade Act.

The 20-year dentist has been squabbling with his colleagues for 10 years over his claims to be a specialist in a field of dentistry he calls oromaximetrics. The state board and other groups say the field is not recognized by the dental profession.

The Houghton Dental Association and the Copper Country group recently recommended that Nara's license be suspended or revoked.

One complaint charged he advertised his services in the yellow pages of the Houghton-Keewenaw Counties telephone book with an ad reading "Specializing in Ormaximetrics." For people who have teeth and want to keep them."

Nara says oromaximetrics is based on a theory that a tooth should be pulled only as the last resort and that a patient should be given detailed instructions on brushing and use of floss to save teeth.

He said he is engaged in a battle on the side of tooth-savers against tooth-pullers.

Nara has asked for jury trials. He also seeks a temporary injunction to prevent any of the dental groups from taking action against him until the federal court suits are resolved.

The latest suit was filed in U.S. District Court at Marquette but it was indicated the papers would be transferred to the court at Grand Rapids, where the original suit awaits the setting of a hearing date by Judge Noel P. Fox.

A state board hearing was postponed twice and is now scheduled for May 4.

Car Flips Into Pond; Girl Dies

PONTIAC (AP) — A 15-year-old girl drowned when the car she was riding in flipped into a pond after careening out of control as it raced down a road in an exclusive Bloomfield Township neighborhood, police said.

Police identified the victim as Cheryl Ann Bokas of Beverly Hills. Firemen recovered her body from inside the 1976 Corvette that had been speeding through the suburban area early Wednesday morning.

The driver of the car, Alexander J. Alex, 18, of Clawson, and another passenger, Dorian R. Nieman, 18, of Birmingham, escaped from the car.

Employee Says He Saw PBB Mixed With Feed

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — A Michigan Farm Bureau Services employee says he saw another worker take material from a bag labeled as containing a PBB product and mix it into livestock feed.

But according to a deposition from David Hulet, 44, read into the record Wednesday at the state's first trial stemming from contamination by the fire-retardant chemical, Hulet was told that his boss had approved the action.

Farm Bureau Services and Michigan Chemical Co. are the main defendants in a Muskegon County dairyman's suit against five firms. Roy Tacoma of Falmouth wants $250,000 in actual damages plus unspecified punitive damages for the loss of 100 cattle that he blames on PBB and other chemicals.

Hulet's testimony, taken in 1975, did not make clear when the PBB mixing occurred at the firm's plant in Climax, Mich., where he works as a feed mixer. The testimony was read into the record rather than having Hulet appear in court in an effort to shorten the trial, now in its eighth week.

Hulet told attorneys preparing for the trial that he had questioned the mixing of material from a bag marked Firemaster into animal feed, although he did not know what Firemaster was.

Firemaster was Michigan Chemical's trade name for its ground PBB product.

Hulet said the other mixer told him the action had approval of the mixing area's manager.

In addition, Hulet said sometime late in 1972 or early in 1973 he spotted a pallet of bags marked Firemaster in an area where a magnesium oxide — a feed additive compound — was stored.

Hulet said he believed there were 13 or 14 bags on the pallet although he only checked labels on bags atop the heap.

PBB contamination is believed to have occurred in May 1973, when the fire retardant PBB, or polybrominated biphenyl, accidentally was mixed into Farm Bureau Service's feed. Magnesium oxide was supposed to have been mixed into the feed.

Hulet claimed the section manager told mixers at the plant during 1974 that if knowledge of Firemaster being in the plant became public, the Climax plant might close. Hulet said the mixers were told to keep quiet.

Hulet later amended that, saying mixers were told only to be careful with whom they discussed the Firemaster discovery. He said those orders came after the PBB mixup was made public.

Dr. Anja Strik, a Dutch toxicologist, took the witness stand late Wednesday afternoon. He underwent lengthy questioning about his scientific qualifications.

Cardinal Has Heart Attack

DETROIT (AP) — John Cardinal Dearden, spiritual leader of the 1.5-million member Detroit Roman Catholic Archdiocese, was to spend his eighth anniversary as cardinal today in an intensive care unit after suffering a heart attack.

The 68-year-old prelate was admitted to Providence Hospital here Wednesday and was to be kept in an intensive care ward for at least a day, hospital officials said.

One of 12 U.S. cardinals, Cardinal Dearden had planned to participate next week in a meeting of American bishops considered crucial for setting church direction in the coming years.

Cardinal Dearden's secretary, the Rev. John Nienstedt, said he was awakened at 4 a.m. by noises from the Cardinal's room. On investigation, he said, he found Cardinal Dearden in considerable pain.

Spokesmen at the Chancery, headquarters of the Detroit Archdiocese, said Cardinal Dearden asked Father Nienstedt to drive him to the hospital.

Four auxiliary bishops will share equal responsibility for running the archdiocese during Cardinal Dearden's absence, the chancery said.

A native of Valley Falls, R.I., Cardinal Dearden came to Detroit as archbishop in 1959 after serving as bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese. He was named to the college of cardinals by Pope Paul in 1969.

A former president of the National Council of Catholic Bishops, Cardinal Dearden was regarded as an advocate of more participation by the congregation in Catholic church affairs. At Vatican II, he was a leader in efforts to revitalize the church and give women more power in the church.

Cardinal Dearden was a pioneer in the idea of having laymen distribute communion, something that had been restricted for many years to priests only.

He also supported the idea of having lay persons read some parts of the Mass liturgy aloud.

'Engine-Switch' Suits Piling Up

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The number of lawsuits by disgruntled Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac owners who found Chevrolet engines under their hoods continue to grow, despite a General Motors Corp. plan meant to appease the complaints.

The beleaguered auto giant on Wednesday faced more suits than it did before making its proposal. "They keep dribbling in," acknowledged a chagrined company spokesman.

And in several states, attorneys general still are considering whether the offer goes far enough.

At last count, according to GM officials here, about 30 individual or class action suits filed by private or state attorneys are pending in state or federal courts. The Illinois attorney general, for example, has actions pending in both state and U.S. District Courts.

Other states which filed suits still pending included Rhode Island, Kentucky, Florida, Alabama, North Carolina, Louisiana, Arkansas and Ohio. In addition, private suits were pending in Texas, Connecticut, Wisconsin, Maryland, Mississippi and Indiana.

GM has insisted all along that it has done nothing illegal or fraudulent.

GM President Elliott M. Estes said Monday's offer was not intended to interfere in the pending lawsuits, but rather "assure customer satisfaction."

Most of the opposition to the plan centers on the eight-cent-a-mile usage charge owners would be assessed if they wanted to exchange their vehicles.

Several state attorneys said they would not drop their suits because of that mileage charge, but two other state attorneys praised the proposal and said they would consider dropping their suits.

North Carolina Atty. Gen. Rufus Edmisten said Wednesday that GM's offer was "really a very fine proposal," adding that the state might drop its suit after his office examines the proposal in writing.

In Florida, Asst. Atty. Gen. Marty Friedman said the GM scheme "seems to me what most people who complained to us wanted." But Friedman said his state also had not decided yet whether to drop its suit.

'Pot' Shipment Believed Bound For Detroit Site

MEMPHIS (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration lately has been on the watch for large aircraft acting suspiciously, an FAA official says.

And so it was that when a four-engine Air Force surplus transport plane — which officials now believe once belonged to a Pontiac, Mich. firm — arrived at Memphis this week with one engine dead and its windows painted over that FAA inspectors' interest was aroused.

And when the plane's crew refused to permit the FAA on board, customs officials and finally local narcotics agents were summoned to seize the plane and the cargo of marijuana, apparently bound for Detroit, which was discovered when authorities finally gained admittance.

James Wright, chief of the control tower at Memphis, said the FAA has developed a growing interest in large military surplus transport planes because of their suitability for the lucrative but illegal marijuana trade as well as because of a series of accidents by nonscheduled transports engaged in legal activities.

"When we see a large aircraft that acts suspicious in any way, shape or manner, we check 'em out," said Wright.

There was a lot to be suspicious of Tuesday when the plane landed.

"To begin with, he never identified (on the radio) himself as a large aircraft," said Wright.

Then there was the dead engine the pilot neglected to report, not to mention the crew's attitude toward the refueling crew, an FAA inspector and a customs agent.

There was also some difficulty with the aircraft identification numbers — the crew identified the plane as N6901F to the tower, but the number taped crudely on the tail was N201F.

Whatever the correct number, the plane and its pilot, Brian J. Corp, were seized along with an estimated 5,419 pounds of what officials called high-quality Colombian marijuana. Two other crew members fled before the marijuana was discovered and were still being sought.

Corp, 29, of Tucson, Ariz., was charged Wednesday with possession of marijuana with intent to sell and held on $250,000 bond.

At a bond hearing before

General Sessions Court Judge W.D. Stinson, Asst. Dist. Atty. Thomas "Zeke" Graves argued for the high bond because Corp has "no roots in this community" and may have been engaged "in many flights outside the United States."

Sheriff Eugene Barksdale said he believed the flight originated somewhere in Colombia in South America and was en route to Detroit. Authorities said earlier the flight probably originated in Venezuela.

Barksdale said the plane possibly made stops between Colombia and Memphis because the pilot probably "wouldn't have come out of there (Colombia) with a light load."

The FAA's records center in Oklahoma City said the aircraft was sold by the Air Force last July to Cryderman Air Service, Inc., at 7002 Highland St., Pontiac, Mich. But an FAA official said the company has indicated the plane has been sold to a San Francisco leasing firm.

The leasing firm could not be located at the address provided by the FAA.

The brand new Viking is here. But not for long.

VIKING
Works with you, never against you.

The 6460 is the most exciting sewing machine ever created by Viking. Or by anyone. It switches stitches at the turn of a knob and gives you a total of forty-four different stitches. That's more than any sewing machine ever made.

Viking 6460 sews more fabrics than ever before too. From tricot to stretch terry to leather to sixteen layers of denim. It's got a powerful low gear for heavy duty sewing. It's got a self-adjusting tension. It's jam-proof. And it never needs oiling.

So naturally, we're excited about the arrival of the brand new Viking 6460. We're checking it out and putting it through the paces every chance we have. See, we figure that once the word gets out about this incredible new machine, we might not have many more chances.

No Progress In SALT Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration has made "absolutely no progress" toward breaking the deadlock with the Soviet Union over a new treaty to limit nuclear weapons, U.S. officials say. The four assessment comes after four weeks of intensive American efforts to reverse the Soviets' rejection of a proposal by President Carter to radically change the approach to the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty (SALT). The officials, who insisted that they not be quoted by name, said the United States has offered no major change in the two proposals turned down March 30 by Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev during talks with Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance in Moscow. The sources also downplayed the importance of Tuesday's announcement of the resumption of working-level talks in Geneva on implementing whatever SALT agreement is reached.

Hussein Winds Up U.S. Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jordan's King Hussein, winding up his Middle East talks with President Carter on a cautious note, says an ill-prepared Geneva peace conference "would be a disaster." Hussein ended two days of talks here on Tuesday and planned to leave for home today. "We in the Arab world haven't had a chance as yet to sit and evolve a common approach" on representation for the Palestinians, Hussein told a news conference Tuesday. "I believe we will formulate these ideas as a result of our contacts, both together and with our friends. But to jump immediately now to specific problems of relatively minor importance in comparison with the main issue is probably the wrong way to set about it."

N. Ireland Stockpiles Food

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The people of Northern Ireland are stockpiling food and fuel in preparation for an economic campaign threatened next Monday by Protestant militants. Informed Protestant sources said the Ulster Unionist Action Council has drawn up plans for a general strike, hoping to repeat the success of the 15-day Protestant strike in May, 1974, which wrecked the first coalition government of Protestants and Roman Catholics in the history of the province. The council demanded that the British government order a major crackdown on the Catholic guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army and restore the Protestant-dominated provincial parliament suspended by London in March, 1972. The British cabinet secretary for Northern Ireland, Ray Mason, rejected the demand and said the government will take "firm action" to break any strike.

Cleric Visits Pope Paul

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Donald Coggan, arrives today for a visit to Pope Paul VI that the Vatican hopes will help remove some of the bars to unity of the Roman Catholic and Anglican churches. The primate of the Church of England and spiritual leader of the worldwide Anglican Communion will meet twice with the pope, and the two religious leaders will pray together in the Sistine Chapel. It is the third visit by an archbishop of Canterbury to a pope since Dr. Geoffrey Fisher and Pope John XXIII broke the ice in 1960 after four centuries of separation.

Posters Blast Bhutto

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Borrowing a political tool from China, Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto's opponents are using wall posters against him despite his ban on political activity. The posters carry anti-Bhutto slogans — "We Don't Want His Resignation, We Want His Head" — and political news that the censored newspapers cannot print. Bhutto declared martial law in Karachi, Lahore and Hyderabad last week and ordered censorship of the nation's newspapers in an attempt to check the opposition Pakistan National Alliance's campaign for his resignation. But even before the censors went to work, newspapers were not allowed to criticize the prime minister and played down news of his opponents. The government radio and television services, on which the nation's illiterate masses are dependent for news, ignored opposition statements.

Democrat Fight Delaying Changes In State Senate

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Quibbling among ruling Democrats continues to hold up progress on proposed changes in state Senate procedures.

Despite a 3½-hour closed door meeting Wednesday, the Democratic caucus failed to reach agreement on minor restrictions covering pre-election mailings, itemized travel expenses, office remodeling and traveling by lame duck lawmakers.

The rules were proposed by Majority Leader William Faust, D-Westland, who recommended them in an attempt to break the Senate's image as a clubbish, unaccountable group whose members take care of their privileges and each other.

And Faust made clear his disgust over the failure of the 24-man Democratic caucus to accept the internal changes.

"Sure, I'm disappointed," he said after the lengthy and heated discussion. "We'll try again. It gets damn discouraging. But the power here is in the caucus. You can't force them to vote and you can't force them not to talk. 'We'll have a vote next time,' he vowed. The next caucus has not been set, but is likely to be next week.

Faust acknowledged the proposed rules are only modest changes. "But this stuff hits home."

"It's a new way they'd have to do things and that doesn't sit well with some of us," he said. "They feel Senate procedures today are accountable."

And, he said, some members feel they are just making reporters' jobs easier, since travel, office and mailing expenses are open to public inspection even now.

Faust said there were at least four members absent from the debate, making it tough to get a majority for approval.

"It's difficult to form a consensus," Faust said. "I would think it will be a close vote."

The proposed rules have already been approved by a special committee stacked with younger, liberal members. Specifically, the rules would ban mass mailings just before elections, require itemized travel expenses, require the majority leader's permission before office remodeling, and ban out-of-state travel by lawmakers who had been defeated for re-election.

Faust said he also will propose sweeping revisions in such traditional strongholds as the seniority system, committee structures and power of the majority leader. Those changes would be designed to take effect only with the newly-elected Senate in 1979, so Faust hopes current members will view them less critically than the present proposals.

Blossomland United Way Honors 103 Area Firms

Blossomland United Way conferred honors on 103 firms and employee groups at the fourth annual awards lunch Wednesday at the Elks club in St. Joseph, according to Dr. Walter Browe, 1976 general campaign chairman.

Plaques and certificates were given in recognition of various levels of significant financial support of United Way agency service, Browe said.

John Banyon, retired Indiana and Michigan Electric Company Benton Harbor division manager, gave the 200 United Way supporters and agency representatives a glimpse of future success possibilities by reviewing recent economic trends. Banyon claimed a general mood of optimism prevails among business leaders, despite widely varying opinions of economists. Indicators of an upturn include improved employment rates, and more housing starts.

The Outstanding Leadership award, highest BUW achievement recognition, was given to the American Red Cross-Berrien County Chapter, American Society of Agricultural Engineers, Appliance Buyers Credit Corporation, Bell-Molbeck, Inc., Blossomland United Way, Burch Printers, Inc., Child & Family Services, Garey Roofing Company, Inc., Gast Manufacturing Corporation, Gateway, Inc., Great Lakes Coca Cola Bottling Co., Teamsters Local No. 7 - Great Lakes Coca Cola Bottling Co., and LeValley-Klum Olds-Cadillac, Inc.

The top honor also went to Siebert-Nedrup Marketing Services, Signal Delivery Service, Inc., Teamsters Local No. 7 - Signal Delivery Service, Type House, Inc., Vail Rubber Works, Inc., URW Local No. 431 - Vail Rubber Works, Whirlpool Administrative Center, Whirlpool Laundry Group, Whirlpool Research and Engineering, YMCA, and YWCA.

Leadership Giving awards in the form of plaques, or year strips to be added to plaques awarded in 1977, were presented to Auto Specialties Mfg. Co., UAW No. 783 - Auto Specialties Mfg. Co., The Bendix Corporation - Hydraulics Div., UAW No. 383 - The Bendix Corporation - Hydraulics Div., Berrien County Cancer Services, Inc., Clark Equipment Co. Car Theft Charged After Crash

Charles Joiner, 17, of 1749 Crawford drive, Benton township, was arrested on a charge of unlawfully driving away an auto Wednesday after a two-car collision was investigated, Benton township police said.

Police said Joiner was arrested about 4:45 p.m. after a driver of a car damaged in a two-car accident at East Napier avenue and South Euclid avenue walked away to telephone police and failed to return.

Joiner was arrested on Pipestone road near the I-94 overpass by Patrolman Kim Fowler, police said.

Police said the 1968 Volkswagen Joiner was allegedly driving when the accident occurred was identified as belonging to Herman Pollard of 1049 Bishop avenue, Benton Harbor.

Pollard told police he discovered his auto missing from a parking lot near East Empire avenue and South Crystal, Benton township, about 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Police said no one was hurt in the collision. Driver of the other car was identified as Alex Crump, 68, of Route 1, Box 138A Towline road, Sodus township.

St. Joseph city police said $150 cash was reported stolen Wednesday from an employee's wallet at the Riverwood Community Health center, 2611 Morton avenue.

Theresa Adams of 2199 Crawford drive, Benton township, told police she discovered her wallet missing about 3 p.m. from the cashier's office and found it empty in a restroom after a search.

Sixty pounds of hamburger were among food valued at a total of $80 reported stolen Wednesday from the Empire Pizza & Sandwich Shop, 125 East Empire avenue, Benton Harbor, police said. Police said the shop was burglarized early Wednesday morning.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said Josephine Connell of 1577 Greg drive, Stevensville, reported a $120 10-speed bicycle was stolen Wednesday from her garage.

Roz Tries Spanish

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rosalynn Carter made public use of a few words of Spanish that she has been studying. After standing in a White House receiving line for about 30 minutes on Wednesday, Mrs. Carter exchanged a few words with an Argentinean TV cameraman. He later said her Spanish was "pretty good."

Tracksters Hurt In Niles Crash

NILES — Four people were injured, including the coach and two members of the Brandywine high school track team, in a three-car accident north of here yesterday afternoon.

Treated and released from Pawating hospital, Niles, following the accident were James Murray, 35, the coach and driver of the car containing the team; and team members Thomas Miller, 15, and Tod Harger, 14, all from Niles.

Also treated and released from the hospital was Carl Verhoestra, 66, South Bend, driver of another of the cars involved.

State police at Niles said six other members of the team in Murray's car and the driver of the third car, Ralph Hendershott, 48, Niles, escaped injury in the 5:45 p.m. accident.

According to officers, the crash occurred when a car eastbound on Ullery pulled onto M-140 into the path of the car containing the team. The team's car then slammed into the third car.

Verhoestra, police said, was driving the eastbound auto and was ticketed on a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

Police said the third car, operated by Hendershott, was stopped on Ullery in the westbound lane.

New Baltimore Arsenal Seized

to have come from an Army depot at Anniston, Ala., the FBI said. Army officers were taking inventory of the other items to try to find out where they came from.

The 75th Explosives Detachment took the material to its base at Selfridge Air Force Base in Mount Clemens.

Rogers' next door neighbor, Robert Munchausen, said, "Sure, I saw him carry stuff in and out but I heard he was a gunsmith and had a permit for everything."

Rogers moved into the apartment in June 1975. The complex manager, Sherri Brinker, said she last saw him April 18 when he gave her a 30-to-60-day notice he was moving out.

"I did know that he did repair and make guns — from what I understood, from made hand-guns," Mrs. Brinker said. She added he worked for Nor Arm Co., a small arms manufacturing firm that has gone out of business.

The company was a subsidiary of Norton Armament Corp., a defunct Mount Clemens firm owned by Paul Norton Van Hec, 47, who was convicted two years ago of conspiring to export military weapons to Portugal.

Van Hec was sentenced to two years' probation, which ended last month. Federal authorities said it was unclear whether there was any connection between Rogers and Van Hec.

Mrs. Brinker said the cache was found Tuesday night when FBI agents entered Rogers' apartment after obtaining a search warrant.

She said that Monday evening, children who live in the complex found a blue sleeping bag containing gun parts.

They reported it to Mrs. Brinker and she called police, she said. FBI agents said they also were called by other youths who apparently also knew of the discovery.

Agents then searched the basement storage area and found weapons in a compartment assigned to Rogers' apartment, agents said.

Mrs. Brinker described Rogers as "a personable person, very friendly, very kind and very soft-spoken." She said he kept "strange" hours.

When Rogers moved into the apartment, he gave his previous address as LaGrange, Ga. He said he was single and his mother lives in New Jersey.

German Gang Members Get Life

STUTTGART, West Germany (AP) — Three leaders of the Baader-Meinhof gang of urban guerrillas were sentenced to life imprisonment today for the bombing of U.S. Army posts in 1972 in which four American servicemen were killed. Andreas Baader, 33, his blonde mistress, Gudrun Ensslin, 36, and Jan-Carl Raspe, 32, were also convicted of 32 counts of attempted murder and forming a criminal conspiracy for anti-state terrorism in West Germany in the early 1970s. Another woman defendant, Ulrike Meinhof, 41, the cofounder with Baader of the gang, was found hanging in her jail cell last May. The government said she committed suicide. Three weeks ago the chief prosecutor of the case, Siegfried Buback, was assassinated in Karlsruhe, and a group calling itself the Commando Ulrike Meinhof claimed it did the killing. The trial has been going on for nearly two years at the maximum security Stammheim Prison in a Stuttgart suburb.

'Punks' To Insulate Homes?

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Up to 2,500 young criminals would help install insulation in homes of low-income families this summer under a program being worked out by lawmakers and Gov. William Milliken. If the program can be arranged, juvenile offenders between ages 15-23 who participate eventually would be given permanent jobs in the building trades. Some lawmakers are worried about sending the youths into homes, but sponsors say the plan includes safeguards. The Michigan Department of Labor is writing guidelines for the program. According to department spokeswoman, Nancy Baerwaldt, the employment pool would be drawn principally from the ranks of young, unemployed people who are under Department of Social Services supervision or are in workready status and being released from state institutions. "To use (Detroit Mayor) Coleman Young's language," she said, "the program also would be aimed at 'these punks' running around the streets who ought to be locked up."

GM Charges Harassment

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. officials say they are being harassed by a single Internal Revenue Service agent who wants to prove the world's largest industrial corporation is cheating on its taxes. In documents filed with U.S. District Court in Detroit, GM said IRS Agent Robert Ronald illegally initiated a fraud investigation under the guise of conducting a civil tax audit. GM has asked the federal court to halt a grand jury probe of the alleged tax fraud. The automaker says the probe is illegal. U.S. Atty. Philip Van Dam said the grand jury would cease calling witnesses pending a hearing scheduled for May 16 before Judge James R. Churchill. Ronald is part of a regular IRS audit team assigned fulltime to Detroit. The GM documents state that when he conducted his regular audit of recalled expense materials, Ronald became convinced that GM was estimating such materials inaccurately for tax purposes. Expense materials are items used in production, such as spare machinery parts that do not become part of the finished auto.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Butler Rites

NEW BUFFALO — Funeral services for Mrs. Nina Butler, 67, of route 1, Box 254, New Buffalo, who died Wednesday, will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Smith funeral home, New Buffalo. Burial will be in Pine Grove cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 until 9 p.m. today; from 2 until 9 p.m. Friday and until the hour of service on Saturday.

Mrs. Butler was born Oct. 29, 1908, in St. Louis, Mo. Her husband, Russell, preceded her in death on Jan. 21, 1977.

Surviving are an adopted daughter, Mrs. Raymond (Alberta) Smith, Kalamazoo; a sister, Mrs. David Hower, Indianapolis, Ind., and three grandchildren.

Earl Spencer

LAWTON — Earl Harrison Spencer, 89, of 318 Adams street, Lawton, died Wednesday in Bronson hospital, Kalamazoo. He was born Dec. 11, 1887, in Pennsylvania, and had resided in the area since 1923. He was a retired painter and decorator.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Robert (Marjorie) Howard, Lawton; a son, Emerson Spencer, Lawton; five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in the Thompson funeral home, Lawton, where friends may call. Burial will be in Oak Grove cemetery, Lawton.

'Demeaned' Secretary Likes Her Job And Boss

By RICHARD T. PIENCIAK
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Women Office Workers held a contest to pick the most ridiculous personal chore performed for a boss. The only trouble was the winner didn't know she also was supposed to consider the duty demeaning.

"See they're going to hate me," said Mary Gustitus, 30, of Little Falls, N.J., "But I have to tell them what I think."

"I love my job and my boss is a great guy. I didn't realize these people were complaining. I didn't know all these people were anti-job," said the executive assistant, who says she gladly does everything from setting up birthday parties to tweezing gray hairs out of her boss' head at his East Orange, N.J., office.

Her entry was bringing her camera to work and taking before, during and after photos of her boss shaving his moustache.

Miss Gustitus said she entered the contest as a lark and with the help of her boss. "He helped me pick stuff out so I could enter. We sat around one day and thought of stuff that was crazy."

Other entries included cleaning the boss' false teeth and coating the boss' plants with mayonnaise.

Miss Gustitus was announced the winner at WOW headquarters Wednesday night. It marked the concluding event of Women Office Workers Day.

She told those assembled at the headquarters that she didn't really agree with them and said, "If you go to work feeling like a servant you'll be one." A few of the women hissed back. When she finished her speech, however, WOW officers thanked her for showing up and "speaking your mind."

Frederick Schaade

DOWAGIAC — Frederick H. Schaade, 64, of 12020 Indiana avenue, Chicago, Ill., formerly of Dowagiac, died Wednesday in St. Francis hospital, Blue Island, Ill. He was born Nov. 1, 1912, in Illinois. His wife, the former Bernice Barger, preceded him in death.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Leslie Barger, Dalton, Ill., Mrs. Hildur Lempe, Portage, Ind., Mrs. Clifford Holmstrom, Oak Lawn, Ill., and a brother, David, Hammond, Ind.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday in the McLauchlin-Clark funeral home, Dowagiac, where friends may call from 6 until 10 a.m. Friday. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

Mabel Geiser

LAWTON — Mrs. Mabel E. Geiser, 93, of 418 3rd street, Lawton, died Wednesday in the Hope Nursing home, Lawton. She was born July 9, 1883, in Jackson county, Mich., and had resided in the area since 1927.

Her husband, Millard Geiser, preceded her in death in 1961. Her first husband, Charles Calhoun, preceded her in death in 1925.

Surviving are a son, (Ret. Lt. Cmdr.) Carl Calhoun, Lawton; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy V. Morrison, Kalamazoo; a sister, Mrs. Frances Petrie, Southfield, Mich.; three grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday in the Thompson funeral home, Lawton. Burial will be in Oak Grove cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 until 4 p.m. today and on Friday after 4 p.m.

'Pot' Count Costs Him Two Jobs

The Medic I emergency medical technician who was fired after pleading guilty in Berrien District court Tuesday to use of marijuana also was fired yesterday from the St. Joseph township auxiliary police force.

Township Police Chief Keith Mills said the township public safety committee upheld his recommendation and removed Richard J. McCullough, 22, of 8972 Cleveland avenue, Baroda. Members of the township board, pulled by telephone, approved the action, Mills said.

McCullough was arrested April 24 in Sodus township. He was not working at the time of his arrest.

Blossom Blessing Sunday To Kick Off Bud Festival

By RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

The non-denominational Blessing of the Blossoms service will be held Sunday as the beginning of Blossomtime festival activities that will extend throughout most of May this year.

Blossoms are expected to be in bloom for the service scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday at the Herb Teichman Tree-Mendus farm near Eau Claire. The event originated in 1946, when Rev. W.J. Caddy of the First Congregational church, Benton Harbor, called for an observance of fruit buds as a forerunner of the harvest.

The Teichman farm is about 15 miles southeast of the Twin Cities. Twin Cities residents may travel on Napier east to M-140 and south on M-140 about nine miles to Eureka road. The farm is off Eureka road, about one mile east of M-140. Another route is through Eau Claire, east to M-140 and north on M-140, about one mile to Eureka.

Members of the Benton Harbor Kiwanis club will direct people to the site on the farm.

Major festival activities formerly were held during the week of the Blessing of the Blossoms service. Festival officials extended activities into a month-long affair, and the Grand Floral parade this year will be on Saturday, May 21.

The service Sunday will be conducted by ministers of varied faiths, as in previous years. Present also will be the 28 Blossomtime community queens, headed by Miss Blossomtime, Kathy Necas of Stevensville.

The procession will be led by the Brass Ensemble of Lake Michigan college, directed by Donald Moely. Music also will be provided by the LMC Madrigal Singers, conducted by Jean Bartz.

Introductions will be by the Rev. Jack Pepple, Fairplain Assembly of God church, who is chairman of the coordinating committee for the service.

Celebrant will be the Rev. Leroy White, St. John's Catholic church, Benton Harbor. Participating ministers will be:

Rev. Robert F. Andrews, St. Paul's Episcopal church, St. Joseph; Rev. Arnold Bolin, executive director, Berrien county Council of Churches; Rev. Dorothy Cross, First Presbyterian church, Benton Harbor; Rev. Paul Fisher, First Assembly of God, Niles; Rev. George W. Flemming, Chapel Hill United Methodist church, Sodus; Rev. Charles Frandzen, St. Augustine's Episcopal church, Benton Harbor; Rev. CW. Runkel, Zion Evangelical and Reformed church, St. Joseph; Rev. Lovell Sorrell, First Church of God, St. Joseph; Rev. Arlon K. Stubbe, Saron Lutheran church, St. Joseph; Rev. Robert Briggeman, Zion United Church of Christ, Baroda; and Rabbi Emeritus Joseph Schwarz, Temple B'Nai Shalom, Benton Harbor.

Festival activities scheduled: Blossomtime rock dance, 8 p.m. Friday, May 6, Shadowland ballroom, St. Joseph.

Blossomtime steelheaders' fishing tournament, Friday and Saturday, May 13-14.

The major festival week will be Sunday through Saturday,

May 15-21. Events:

Sunday, May 15, 8 a.m., Blossomland first annual puppy match, sponsored by Shamrock Puppy club, Berrien Springs, to be held at Fairplain plaza, Benton township.

Monday through Friday, May 16-20, Key to Cities tour by community queens.

Wednesday, May 18, Blossomtime fashion show, 8 p.m., Shadowland ballroom, St. Joseph.

Thursday, May 19, Blossomtime Youth Parade, 3:30 p.m., St. Joseph.

Friday, May 20, Bridge dedication, Benton Harbor-St. Joseph, 2 p.m.; Blossomtime celebrities reception, 6 p.m., Shadowland ballroom.

Saturday, May 21, Grand Floral parade, St. Joseph-Benton Harbor, 1 p.m.; Blossomtime square dance, 7:30 p.m., Berrien Springs high school gymnasium; Grand Floral ball, 9 p.m., Shadowland ballroom.

Dates are to be announced later for the Berrien Art Guild event and Cathedral Choral Society performance.

NEW OFFICES IN SJ: David Fister (left) and Walter Clements have moved their Fister and Clements Realtors, to new office in St. Joseph. Fort Miami professional building at 815 Main street is owned by Fister and tenants include Fister and Clements; Harold Schadler, district manager for State Farm Insurance; Town

Finance company, and Atty. Peter Johnson. Fister and Clements realty, which also has offices in Niles, Kalamazoo and Stevensville, moved from 2614 Niles avenue, St. Joseph. Fister extensively remodeled Fort Miami professional building which formerly housed retail businesses. (Staff photo)

Michigan Man Faces Charges In Illinois

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — A Michigan man arrested March 24 near Champaign when a companion was shot to death by a state trooper has been indicted on charges of attempted murder and armed violence, authorities said.

Nell Price, 24, of Oscoda, Mich., an escapee from a Colorado prison, was indicted Wednesday in connection with the attempt on the life of state police officer Robert Putnam of Hoopston.

Putnam had stopped to investigate a car parked on the side of Interstate 74 east of Urbana.

The driver of the car, Kenneth Klowitzer, 20, of Mikado, Mich., told Putnam that the other two men in the car had escaped from a Colorado prison. Putnam said he was handcuffing Price when Ronald Delzer, 41, of Chicago pulled a gun from his clothing and attempted to shoot the officer, but the gun jammed, and Putnam shot Delzer.

Nixon Aides Ask Court Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, embarrassed by what probably is an unprecedented news leak about a final court decision, may soon have to decide whether its own members can be swayed by publicity.

Attorneys for former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and one-time White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman asked the court Wednesday for permission to comment by May 7 on the impact of the news leak, which revealed facts from the justices' private discussions about the three Watergate cover-up appeals.

The lawyers plan to argue that there are effects from "the publicly disclosed circumstances involving the consideration" of the case. News reports surfaced last week, saying the court already has voted to deny the appeals of all three men. Those reports said the court voted 5-3 to turn down the appeals, but that Chief Justice Warren E. Burger was holding up announcement of the vote in an attempt to get one justice to change his mind.

In such appeals, four votes are needed to grant a full review.

The news report said Burger

Brennan Jr., Byron R. White and John Paul Stevens reportedly voted to deny the appeals.

Such leaks from the justices' closed discussions about pending cases are rare. If last week's report proves accurate, it probably would be the first time in history that the final determination in a case was made public before being announced

Nixon administration were convicted in 1975 of conspiracy, obstruction of justice and testifying falsely under oath in connection with the Watergate scandals. Each was sentenced to 30 months to eight years in prison.

While Ehrlichman chose to begin serving time while his appeal was pending, Mitchell and Haldeman have remained free. If the Supreme Court turns down their appeals, they would go to prison.

The earliest the court will say "yes" or "no" to the appeal for a review is Monday. If no word comes then, a decision won't be announced for at least two weeks more while the court has the last recess of its current term.

If the Supreme Court rejects the appeals, attorneys for Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman have no further legal recourse.

In another matter Wednesday, the court voted 6-3 that states have a constitutional duty to provide prisoners with "meaningful access" to the courts by making available either law libraries or the assistance of persons trained in the law.

The justices said a prisoner's "fundamental right of access to the courts" demands such assistance at state expense. The North Carolina case involved a state prison system, but the court's ruling on a constitutional issue also applies to federal prisons.

Cap Fails After Minute On North Sea Oil Well

STAVANGER, Norway — Oil well trouble shooters choked off the runaway North Sea oil well for about a minute today, but the gas pressure blew the closing device open, the Phillips Petroleum Co. reported.

The seven-man team trying to cap the five-day-old blowout returned to its headquarters barge 50 feet from Bravo rig to decide what to do, a company spokesman said.

The company's engineering manager, Robert Archambault of Dayton, Ohio, told reporters Wednesday night that if the machinery used today failed, the crew might try to winch a four-ton capping device over the gusher.

"It's difficult, but it's been done before," he said.

The crew boarded the rig 170 miles southwest of Norway at dawn today "under fine weather conditions" to begin what was hoped would be the final phase of the capping operation.

Their plan was to stop the flow with half-moon shaped pieces of steel called blind rams forced over the wellhead by hydraulic pressure. The company spokesman said the blind rams closed for about one minute, then reopened under the force of the gas which is pushing the oil up from 10,000 feet.

The gas pressure was estimated at 4,350 pounds per square inch, and the rams were designed to contain a pressure of 4,500 pounds. There was no immediate explanation of the failure of the device to hold.

The well has been gushing 36,000 gallons of oil and shale an hour into the North Sea since it blew out late Friday night during a maintenance operation. The spill has created a slick about 31 miles long and 12½ miles wide in the Ekofisk oil field, but no coastline was threatened yet, and Norwegian fishery experts said they did not expect any "mass killing of fish."

Norwegian Prime Minister Odvar Nordli said the blowout would not halt oil operations off the Norwegian coast.

"The oil exploration in the North Sea has come to stay and will continue despite the first blowout in the Ekofisk field," he said. But he added: "The accident has showed that all aspects of the North Sea activities must be studied, as soon as possible and thoroughly."

This was an indication that the government would not be hurried into a decision on test drilling off northern Norway, an area that so far is closed to the oil companies.

The well-capping crew led by "Boots" Hansen and Richard Hattberg worked on the rig from daybreak until early afternoon Wednesday, then suspended operations.

Unprecedented News Leak Embarrasses U.S. Justices and justices Harry A. Blackmun and Lewis F. Powell, all appointed by former President Richard M. Nixon, voted to hear arguments in the case. Another Nixon appointee, Justice William H. Rehnquist, was said to have disqualified himself.

Justices Thurgood Marshall, Potter Stewart, William J.

officially by the court. Speculation about how the leak came about has been rampant, but the reporter who originated the report, Nina Tenenbergh of National Public Radio, has said only that the information was supplied by unnamed "court sources."

Shooting Victim Sues

A man wounded by a gunshot in a Berrien Springs bar last year has filed suit in Berrien Circuit court against his alleged assailant and two tavern owners, seeking more than $10,000 damages from each.

The plaintiff, Roy Haukcomb, of Berrien Springs, was shot with a .38 caliber revolver Feb. 8, 1976, while he was inside the Sportsman's tavern in Berrien Springs, but has recovered.

Named defendants in the suit were Andrew A. Layman, of Eau Claire; Tommy Heinz, owner of the Tupper bar in Berrien Springs; and James Lamunton, owner of the Sportsman's bar.

The suit seeks damages from both tavern owners, claiming the assailant was served intoxicants while visibly intoxicated. Layman in May, 1976, was sentenced in Berrien Circuit court to two years probation and 15 weeks in jail for a no contest plea to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon against Haukcomb.

In another suit, Marie Bell Jones, of Benton Harbor, seeks an amount over $10,000 for back injuries allegedly sustained when she slipped and fell on a coat hanger on the floor of the former Shopper's Fair store in Benton township. The injury occurred July 1, 1975.

Named defendant was Mangel Stores, the corporation which owned Shopper's Fair at 1800 South M-126. Shopper's Fair has since gone out of business.

Thirteen Appear

In Court

One person demanded examination, two others were bound over to circuit court, and 10 were sentenced Wednesday in Berrien Fifth District court. Charges against another three persons were dismissed.

Demanding examination was Ronald Wallace, 29, of 751 Pearl street, Benton Harbor, on a charge of possession of heroin. He failed to post $5,000 bond and was jailed.

Bound over to Circuit court were:

Ronald Hunter, 24, of Michigan City, Ind., facing two related charges: first degree criminal sexual conduct — engaging in sexual penetration with a woman during the commission of another felony; and larceny of money from a person — the same woman. According to the warrant, the alleged crimes occurred Sept. 8 in Chikaming township. He was jailed under $20,000 bail.

Chester Dossert, 24, of 1222 Highland avenue, Benton township, accused of uttering and publishing a false $243 check in Benton township April 1. Bond of $2,000 was not met.

Sentenced for the following violations were:

Petty larceny — Patrick L. Davis, 17, of 813 Wisconsin avenue, St. Joseph, and Denise Taylor, 17, of 2451 Lawrence drive, Benton township, fine and costs of $122 each.

Use of marijuana — Dell Ray Meyer, 18, and James C. Harvey, 21, both of Michigan City, Ind., $100 and six months probation each.

Driving under the influence of intoxicants — Arthur Wymann, 62, of Rocky Wood road, Berrien Springs, $200 and one year probation; Shirley Jean Hall (also known as Green), 39, of Hagar Shore road, Coloma, $152 and six months probation.

Impaired driving — Wayne M. Antosz, 24, of 3961 Papalardo, Bridgman, $200 and six months probation; and Norman S. Elzey, 50, of 932 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, $132 and six months probation.

Dismissals granted included: Charges of possession of amphetamines and possession of marijuana against Charlotte L. Kent, 35, of 317 St. Joseph street, Watervliet.

A charge of possession of barbituric acids with intent to deliver against Dennis M. Metcalf, 31, of Sanford, Mich.

A charge of receiving and concealing stolen property valued under $100 against Thomas L. Hildebrand, 27, of 608 West Michigan street, New Buffalo.

BRENT BENNETT
Bipartisan recruiter

Buchanan Man Helps Recruiter

Brent E. Bennett, a recent graduate of the U.S. Air Force Technical Training center in Denver, Colo., has been assigned to the Air Force Recruiting station at the Fairplain Plaza for the next 15 days.

Bennett, 18, who graduated from Buchanan high school last year, will discuss Air Force life and opportunities with potential enlistees, according to Recruiting Sgt. Anthony L. Brackins. While on the temporary assignment, Bennett and his wife, Terry, are staying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bennett, Buchanan.

Ask Your Dentist

Q. When I asked my dentist about any danger from his taking X-rays of my teeth he told me his X-ray machine was "collimated." What does that mean to me as far as X-ray exposure is concerned?

A. Patient exposure to X-rays from dental X-ray machines should be limited to the minimum area and time necessary to produce a good dental film.

The X-ray beam that comes out of the cone or tube on the head of an X-ray machine should be about 2 1/2 of an inch in diameter. The beam that is produced in the head of the machine is much greater in diameter than 2 1/2 inches and must be narrowed or reduced in size before it leaves the cone or tube which the dentist places next to your face when he exposes the film which has been placed in your mouth.

The process of narrowing or reducing the size of the beam is called "collimation." Your dentist was assuring you that his X-ray machine was "collimated" to limit the area of your skin exposed to the X-rays.

Usually a lead washer or disc at least 1/16 of an inch thick, with a hole in the center is used to collimate an X-ray machine. Lead of this thickness absorbs dental X-rays, so the X-ray beam is reduced in size according to the diameter of the hole in the washer. If the hole is too large, the patient may receive more X-radiation than is needed; if it is too small the X-ray beam will not cover the film in the mouth.

BH Issues 3 Building Permits

The Benton Harbor building inspection department during the past week issued three building permits and one wrecking permit.

Building projects, totaling about $5,400, included permits to Martin Waters, for a 16 by 12-foot bedroom added to a single-family dwelling he owns at 225 Seaview avenue, $2,500; Rex Sheeley, for fire damage repairs to a single-family dwelling he owns at 970 Colfax avenue, $2,000; and Blossomland Window Sales, a paint contractor at the home of Viola Carter, 773 Thresher avenue, $900.

A wrecking permit was issued to Wright Brothers, excavators, to demolish a single-family dwelling, owned by Fairbanks Sims of Route 4, Coloma, at 208 High street.

Army Eyes More Women Recruit Quality Slipping

WASHINGTON (AP) — The quality of recruits entering the Army during the past three months fell to the lowest level in at least a year, and if the trend continues it could lead to recruitment of more women.

A high school diploma is a main standard of quality for the armed services. But figures obtained from Pentagon manpower officials show that only 47 per cent of the Army's recruits in January through March were high school graduates.

This is about 9 per cent below the Army's minimum objective and well under levels reported by the Marines, Navy and Air Force.

The continued downward trend in the Army's recruit quality seems likely to fuel a debate over continuation of the all-volunteer concept.

Some Congress members, including Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, contend the draft should be restored. Defense Secretary Harold Brown disagrees.

Army officials, who blame recruitment problems partly on congressional cutbacks in funds, could turn to the acceptance of more women as a way of bolstering quality.

Sources said about 90 per cent of the women recruited into the Army have high school diplomas, which the Army has said "is the best measure of quality as it relates to motivation, discipline and probability to complete the full term of enlistment."

The Army now limits its untrained women to about 50,000 out of a total force of about 775,000.

Some officials argue that women have shown they can perform well in a wide variety of military jobs and that the doors should be opened wider to them. But certain Army traditionists oppose increasing the number of women in the service because they are barred from combat duty.

Military manpower experts have long forecast that an improving economy would make it more difficult for all the services to attract volunteers, particularly young men with the potential to fill skilled civilian jobs.

Army officers claim the winter months traditionally are poor for recruiting. But they cannot explain why the Army did so poorly compared with the other services in terms of quality volunteers in the January-March quarter.

Marines reported 59 per cent high school graduates, the Navy 69 per cent, the Air Force 88 per cent for the period.

In the same winter quarter a year ago, the Army counted 52 per cent high school graduates among its new recruits.

It is uncertain whether the Army has done worse in this respect during any quarter since the draft expired in mid-1973 because quarterly reports have been issued only for the past year.

However, records suggest that the Army's recruit crop in the past three months could have been the lowest in quality since December 1973 when only 41 per cent of the volunteers were high school graduates.

Tax Breaks Make Jobs

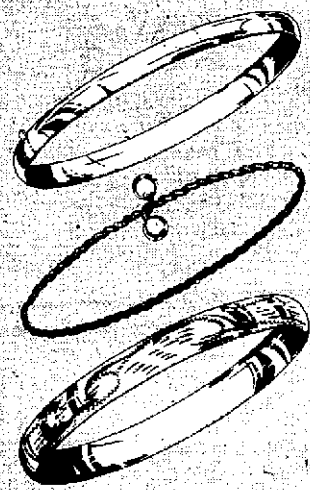

LANSING (AP) — U. S. Gov. James Dammann says nearly 30,000 Michigan jobs have been created or retained through a state law permitting local governments to give tax breaks on new or renovated industrial facilities. Dammann told a group of business leaders attending a Small Business Administration awards ceremony this week that the act has allowed capital investment of about $875 million in some 300 projects. The act permits the tax breaks over a 12-year period.

TIDBITS

Pancake-Sausage Supper

BUCHANAN — Fourth grade students from the Buchanan school districts four elementary schools will hold a pancake and sausage supper Friday, May 6, from 5 to 7 p.m. at the middle school on West Fourth street here. Tickets for the dinner may be purchased from fourth grade students, teachers and at all four elementary school offices. Tickets may also be purchased at the door. Funds raised by the supper will be used to help establish a permanent maple syrup camp at the school farm. Fourth graders annually participate in the camp program, tapping maple trees and making syrup. Syrup made this year will be served at the supper. Currently, the camp is held on private land made available to the program.

Lee Meeting Is Tuesday

PULLMAN — The Lee township board will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the township hall instead of Monday night as regularly scheduled. Township Supervisor Edward Yetzke will be attending a assessor school on Monday. The June board meeting will again be on the first Monday.

River Valley Registration

THREE OAKS — Registration for children entering in the River Valley school system this kindergarten fall will be held May 4 at grade schools in Chikaming, New Troy and Three Oaks. Registration at each school will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. School personnel will be at the registration to meet parents and answer questions. Parents are asked to bring their children's birth certificate and health records.

Prescott Re-Elected Chief

Wayne Prescott has been re-elected chief of the Hagar township fire department for the coming year. Prescott of Lake Michigan Beach has also made the following fire department appointments: Bill Leedy, assistant chief; Rick Martin, captain; Gregg Stanton, lieutenant; Nick Lycke, officer in charge of ambulance. Elected as officers in the department's men's association were: Jim Johnson, president; Chuck Evans, vice president; Stanton, secretary; and Lycke, treasurer.

'Country Day' At Baroda

BARODA — "Country Day" at Baroda elementary school will be held here Saturday, April 30, from 1 to 4 p.m., according to Mrs. Norma Nitz of Baroda. Booths featuring homemade goods, plants, cotton candy, portraits, and refreshments will be set up. Admission charge is 25 cents. Various organizations and individuals will also have booths exhibiting their products and have agreed to donate 10 per cent of their profits to the school. Other funds raised by the program will go for school purposes.

Lee Cleanup Day Saturday

PULLMAN — Lee township will hold a Cleanup Day Saturday and residents are asked to meet at the township hall at 9 a.m. Heading the cleanup effort will be the Pullman American Legion boy scout troop.

Keeler Slates Cleanup Day

KEELER — Keeler township's annual Cleanup Day, set for Saturday, will differ this year from past years, according to Supervisor John Gillesby. Residents are asked to collect litter from along roads adjoining their property and take it to the Keeler landfill on 62nd street. Gillesby said the township will pay fees for township residents dumping litter.

Sheltered Food No Treat

DETROIT (AP) — Civil defense officials are asking if "Polly wants a cracker?" Or anyone else, for that matter. They are stuck with 240,000 boxes of crackers, left from the 1950s when the federal government stocked 600 Detroit-area nuclear fallout shelters with provisions. The 5 million pounds of crackers have since outlived their shelf life. In other words, they are rancid or stale. Civil defense officials say some will be used to feed squirrels and deer, but the rest are being offered to chicken farmers or anyone else willing to pick them up. In addition to the crackers, the provisions included hard candy. The candy is still good, although somewhat tasteless by now, authorities said.

Democrats Beat Down GOP's Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats are determined to back President Carter's economic plan, turning down repeated Republican efforts to hand Americans immediate cuts in their income taxes.

Carter has insisted on holding any tax cuts until later, when he plans to offer his own plan for a comprehensive restructuring of tax laws. He has threatened to veto any immediate tax cuts.

Still, Republicans spent Wednesday trying to get their Democratic colleagues to accept two amendments that would have provided workers with across-the-board individual tax cuts.

The Senate has approved Carter's request to scrap his original proposal for a one-shot $50 rebate to nearly every American, but has voted to leave in the bill a provision expanding tax breaks for businesses.

Carter opposed the business tax breaks, but backers of the provision say they hope the President will back off his threat to veto the bill if the provision is not deleted.

Despite the President's threat to veto the Republican tax cuts if they showed up in the bill, GOP leaders argued Wednesday that the economic climate demanded the tax cuts.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, argued that including the GOP tax cuts would be an "exercise in futility." He said he was certain Carter would follow through with his threatened veto and that "there is not a chance on earth that this veto could be overridden."

Long argued that the only reason for the GOP tax cut proposals was so Republicans could tell the voters it was the Democrats who killed their chances for a quick tax cut.

But Sen. Jacob Javits, a sponsor of the GOP proposal, argued that the first tax cut plan would stimulate the economy, prevent an economic downturn next year and create 350,000 new jobs.

Senate Republican Leader

Howard Baker of Tennessee called it "a mistake to first offer the $50 rebates and then withdraw them and offer nothing in their place." He said withdrawal of the rebates "left us with no alternative but the Republican initiative."

But by a vote of 55-39 the Senate turned down the first GOP amendment, a $7.9 billion-a-year individual tax cut that would have reduced taxes on income under $20,000.

Then, by 62-33, the senators turned down the second GOP idea, a $16 billion-a-year 10 per cent tax cut across all income brackets. Javits said that plan could have meant a tax cut of $36 per year at the lowest income level to $220 for a family earning more than $20,000 per year.

GOING HOME: Gov. Marvin Mandel of Maryland, with his wife, Jeanne, prepares to leave Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. He has been hospitalized since April 5, and had been at Hopkins since last Thursday night. Mandel has been suffering from an unknown illness that has left him with severe headaches and weakness on his right side. (AP Wirephoto)

Disaster Survival Test Sunday

CHICAGO — The National Safety Council has offered free additional information on disaster survival to all those who take the National Disaster Survival Test. It has been announced by Vincent L. Tofany, Council president. He said all people have to do is send their completed Official Test Form to the council, with their names and addresses indicated.

"The National Disaster Survival Test itself will provide people with a wealth of useful information for preventing disaster-related accidents," Tofany said. "Our follow-up printed piece, however, will provide additional details, and can be used as a reference long after the program is over."

The National Disaster Survival Test will be telecast at 8 p.m. Sunday on NBC as a 90-minute "Big Event." It is being produced for NBC by Warren V. Bush Productions in cooperation with the National Safety Council. The council expects approximately 20 million people to participate in the test.

"We anticipate great interest in the program because the National Disaster Survival Test will be concerned with all types of safety — public, home, industrial, and even traffic — all within the context of disasters," Tofany said. "Most accidents associated with disasters can be prevented, if only people knew what to do. The test is designed to provide with that information."

Bailey Bond Denied

DETROIT (AP) — A federal judge has refused to order reinstatement of bond in Michigan for Rhode Island state Rep. G. William Bailey.

U.S. District Court Judge Ralph Guy said Wednesday that the issue of reinstating bond raised no constitutional question in Bailey's case.

Bailey's attorney had argued his client had constitutional rights to bond reinstatement and that those rights were violated.

If bail had been reinstated, it would have terminated extradition proceedings in Rhode Island and would have allowed Bailey to remain free while his larceny conviction in Michigan is being appealed.

Bailey was convicted of stealing record albums from an Algonac department store in 1973.

Bailey faces a two-to-four year prison sentence if returned to Michigan.

Persons who have appeared on all three national networks will appear on the National Disaster Survival Test. Host will be Tom Snyder of NBC's Tomorrow Show. Co-hosts include journalists Shana Alexander (CBS's 60 Minutes), John Amos (ABC's Roots), and Kate Jackson (ABC's Charlie's Angels, and astronaut Wally Schirra.

Tofany will provide amplification for the answers to be given on the program. Frank Stanton, chairman and principal officer of the American National Red Cross and former president and vice chairman of CBS, will also appear.

The National Disaster Survival Test is patterned after the award winning National Drivers Test that first appeared on CBS in 1965. That program attracted more than 50 per cent of the entire viewing audience in its time period, and won the coveted Peabody award. It was produced and written by the same Warren Bush whose company is producing the National Disaster Survival Test.

To generate participation in the program, the National Safety Council has distributed masters of the official test form throughout the council's entire membership, encouraging all members and friends to duplicate from the master. The council has also invited newspapers across the country to run the official test form. In all, more than 50 million test forms will be distributed to Americans, the council estimates.

The Safety Council of Southwestern Michigan, headquartered in St. Joseph, is an affiliate of the National Safety Council.

Ex-Highland Park Officer Convicted

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) — Former Highland Park Police Officer Jeffery Jacobs has been convicted of felonious assault in what several officials say was the racially motivated shooting of a fellow officer.

The victim was black and Jacobs and two other officers present were white. Highland Park's mayor and police chief say the Oct. 14 shooting was prompted by racial problems.

Jacobs, a nine-year veteran of the force when the shooting occurred, was cleared of a more serious charge — assault with intent to commit murder. A Wayne County Circuit Court jury of one man and 11 women returned the verdict after about three hours of deliberations.

Jacobs, 32, was off duty and in the dispatch office of Metropolitan Cab Co. when he used his 9mm. automatic pistol to shoot Michael Napier, 25, through the abdomen.

Jacobs claimed the shooting was accidental. Police Chief Donald Ashcroft at first concurred, but later said it was racially motivated.

Highland Park Mayor Jesse Miller ordered Jacobs suspended without pay.

Racine Gets Post In Michigan Week

Race "Pete" Racine of St. Joseph has been named Michigan Week chairman for Region 9, which includes Berrien, Cass, Kalamazoo, St. Joseph and Van Buren counties. Racine is regional general manager of the Win Schuler restaurants in Stevensville and Marshall.

His appointment is announced by James J. Warner, Michigan Week deputy general chairman for Western Michigan and president of Warner Vineyards, Inc., Paw Paw.

"Pete brings to the regional chairmanship exceptional ability, knowledge of the area and interest in our State's progress," Warner said. "We expect great things for Michigan from the hundreds of volunteers who will work closely with him on their Michigan Week plans."

A graduate of City College of San Francisco, Racine attended Hillsdale College and the University of Houston.

He serves on the board of directors of Child and Family Services and Berrien County Juvenile Court Citizens Advisory Council. He resides in St. Joseph with his wife, Nancy, and two children.

May 14-21 are dates of the 30th annual Michigan Week observance.

Carter 'The Pro' Is Ready For Long Energy Fight

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is described as "ready, very much so," for months of heated congressional debate on energy and other volatile issues because he is a political professional "who knows how to get things done."

This was the assessment of Bert Lance, director of the Office of Management and Bud-but he knows where he wants to go and how he intends to get there."

Hamilton Jordan, a key Carter assistant, acknowledges that with the end of the first 100 days there has been a turning point in Carter's relations with Congress and the people, brought about by the President's energy proposals.

While he said there has been no change of attitude or mood at the White House, Carter aides were pleased that at this point "a lot of plans are ready to be translated into policy and legislation."

"You have given me a great responsibility — to stay close to you, to be worthy of you, and to exemplify what you are."

So he walked to his new home from that ceremony, rationalized renditions of "Hail to the Chief," avoided limousines that looked like limousines, held a fireside chat, starred in his own radio call-in show, revived regular news conferences and enrolled daughter Amy in a public school.

Richard E. Neustadt, Harvard professor and author of "Presidential Power," told The Associated Press in early February that he was optimistic Carter could make a success of such uses of symbolism, although acknowledging, "it's going to be very hard to keep it from ... appearing phony or falling of its own weight."

Neustadt added: "If gestures — these symbolic statements — are arresting, noticeable, widely approved and popular, they will widen your mandate ...

Voters don't pass bills, but the climate that's created makes an enormous difference."

Jimmy Carter obviously agrees. Taking note of his 70-plus approval rating, he predicted last month that his energy program would cause him to "lose 10 or 15 per cent of that." But he added, "I'm willing to give up some of my own personal popularity among the people of this country to require them to face the brutal facts" about dwindling supplies of oil and natural gas.

Here's Fourth Of Five Parts

get, as the first major debate of the Carter presidency — over energy policy — was getting under way.

And looking back over the first 100 days of the Carter presidency, Lance, one of Carter's long-time governmental partners and proteges here and in Atlanta, was reminded of a Carter campaign statement that "I want to be tested in the most severe way."

"He's ready, very much so," Lance said in a telephone interview. He said Carter is particularly ready to be tested on energy because he enters the debate with a "deep sense of commitment" that favorable action on his blueprint is essential.

There is near-universal agreement in Washington that the unveiling last week of Carter's controversial, many-faceted energy blueprint marked a turning point for the new administration — away from a "honeymoon" period and toward long months of intensive jockeying over the nuts and bolts of government.

Asked if he believes Carter is prepared for the energy compromises that many observers regard as inevitable, Lance declined to embrace the premise that major compromises can be expected. But he asserted:

"First of all, the evidence speaks for itself. He's an awfully good politician. He knows how to get things done. He might not call himself a trader,

EFFICIENT: Engineer Cravens Wanlass shows off new-type electric motor he says could save one to two million barrels of oil a day if it is put into wide use. Wanlass, at a Los Angeles news conference, says his "controlled torque" motor uses up to one-third less power than most electric motors. (AP Wirephoto)

Energy issues are only part of what promises to be a marathon test of Carter's ability to implement sweeping campaign pledges to simplify the tax system, revise welfare programs and prune the federal bureaucracy — all questions that will be ready for congressional debate by the end of this year.

Consciously, Carter set out in his first 100 days to gird himself for the battles ahead by successfully campaigning to elevate his own popularity rating, recorded at a lofty 72 per cent in the most recent Gallup Poll. In the process, he has come close to elevating political symbolism into an art form.

In Carter's view, symbolism and substance are inseparable, with the latter flowing from the former.

If wearing sweaters, holding "town meetings" and moulting chattered government limousines helped to make him popular and enhanced an image of trustworthiness, Carter is convinced his opportunities for dealing successfully with tough problems are correspondingly increased.

As he told some visiting journalists last month:

"The authority and the power and leadership capabilities of any president are derived almost completely from the support that I have from the people of the country."

Lance recalled that Carter's efforts as governor to reorganize the Georgia bureaucracy were the biggest drag on his popularity in that state.

Asked if impending reorganization battles here were likely to yield a similar result, Lance said he thought the opposite might occur.

Although the budget chief said reorganization plans, which will start flowing from the White House in June, will mightily upset a wide range of special interest groups, he expressed the view that there is a broad, national demand for reorganization.

In that situation, he said, Carter may actually enhance his national constituency.

Carter's constituency was slim indeed when he entered office, having collected a bare 51 per cent of last November's votes. From the outset, in his inaugural address, the new president moved to appeal for broader support, saying:

Tune In TV Of The 1950s Again--On CBS Tonight

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — In one of TV's periodic navel inspections, CBS News tonight looks back at network television of the 1950s in a two-hour show, "When Television Was Young," reported by Charles Kuralt.

It's a sharper-than-usual memory tour of TV in that it goes beyond the usual collection of drama and comedy highlights and self-serving salutes to them good old black-and-white days. Sure, it has its share of Ernie Kovacs clips, quick glimpses of young struggling thespians like Charlton Heston, the late James Dean, Jack Lemmon and Grace Kelly going about their dramatic business.

But it also goes into the early days of TV news, including the use of government-supplied and government-narrated film which then was aired under the guise of news, not propaganda. And it recalls the big quiz show scandals, using House testimony to illustrate how some contestants on CBS'

"$64,000 Question" got answers to the big and lesser questions in advance.

Alas, that is only a recitation of quiz show history, not an attempt to see if such scandals can occur today in the daytime and twilight world of game shows, as they're now called.

The program also dwells on the sordid 1950s practice of blacklisting, when frightened networks, advertisers and individuals denied work to artists accused by anti-Communist zealots of Communist sym-

Kuralt cites a few examples of blacklist victims, among them actor Philip Loeb of "The Goldbergs" and dancer Paul Draper, who did a quick tap-dance number on the late Ed Sullivan's variety show on CBS.

But vagueness flaws Kuralt's narrative when he notes that "in the eyes of some people Loeb was either a Communist or belonged to a Communist front." And when he says Draper's career on TV in the United States ended because "somebody had said Draper was a Communist."

Who were these mysterious somebodies? No specifics are advanced, even though Kuralt later notes that "Red Channels," a list of supposed Communist sympathizers, was given 4,000 key TV and advertising folk.

"The unstated purpose (of the book) was to scare executives," he says. "It did. If your name was in 'Red Channels,' you were professionally dead for years."

Okay, the book existed. But methinks it'd be stronger to take the cases of Loeb and Draper and specifically explain how each man was blacklisted and why it was condoned on the network level.

Valuable perspective also could have come in interviews with network and advertising executives who went along with blacklisting.

This one is fairly good. But it substitutes breadth for detail, covers too much in its look back at the tube of the 1950s.

OUR CONFUSING LANGUAGE: The following are all prefixes for "half" — hemi, demi and semi. . . Warning: Doctors say if you fear illness, you may be inviting it. . . Smoking is now said to cause wrinkles and that, on average, a 50-year-old smoker will be as wrinkled as a 70-year-old non-smoker. . . The U.S. Commerce department offered a 16-week course in the preparation of an American-type Oriental cuisine. (With 16-weeks, you get eggroll!) . . . TODAY In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, April 28, the 118th day of 1977. There are 247 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1952, war with Japan officially ended as a treaty which had been signed by the United States and 47 other nations went into effect.

On this date: In 1220, work was begun on Salisbury Cathedral in England. In 1788, Maryland entered the Union as the seventh state. In 1789, the mutinous crew of the British ship "Bounty" set Capt. William Bligh and 18 sailors adrift in a launch in the South Pacific. In 1878, Britain's Queen Victoria was declared Empress of India. In 1945, in World War II, Italian dictator Benito Mussolini and his mistress were captured and executed near Lake Como as they tried to escape to Switzerland. In 1965, U.S. Marines were ordered to land in the Dominican Republic during a revolution.

Ten years ago: Boxing champion Cassius Clay, now known as Muhammad Ali, refused induction into the army and faced a possible five-year prison term and loss of his title.

Five years ago: North Vietnamese forces, who had launched a broad offensive in northern South Vietnam, overran part of a fire base guarding the city of Hue.

One year ago: India's Supreme Court upheld the right of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government to imprison political opponents without court hearings.

Today's birthday: Playwright Robert Anderson is 60.

Thought for today: Determine that the thing can and shall be done, and then we shall find the way. — President Abraham Lincoln, 1868-1865.

Lesson Pays Off In Philadelphia Romp Over Celtics

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers learned something about themselves last Sunday. It paid off Wednesday night with a 110-91 romp over the Boston Celtics and a 22 lead in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association Eastern Conference semifinal playoff series.

Guard Doug Collins, who led the 76ers with 23 points, said after a victory over Boston last Friday night, that they lost their intensity and were mentally unprepared for Sunday's game.

"The Celtics are such a fantastic team," said Collins, "that you can't let them up for air like that."

Collins said the 76ers are not about to make that mistake Friday night at Boston.

Collins played like someone in a hurry to get it over. He hit 11 for 16 from the field and handed out four assists. He was in the thick of the first-half 76ers' spree that broke the Celtics' back.

Collins was aided on offense by Julius Erving, who scored 22, and Steve Mix with 20 in 27 minutes of action. The 76ers shot 51.6 per cent from the field to 39.6 for Boston and outscored the Celtics 59-30. Philadelphia controlled the game, scoring 12 straight points for a 30-20 first-period lead.

Collins, Erving and Mix led a nine-minute, 33-8 spurt from which Boston never recovered. Philadelphia led 62-41 at halftime, by as many as 22 and never less than 12 the rest of the way.

Philadelphia Coach Gene Shue credited defense, especially the job 7-foot-1 Caldwell Jones did on Boston center Dave Cowens. Cowens, who scored 37 in the Celtics' 124-119 victory Sunday, was held to eight Wednesday night. He shot four for 14 from the field and never had a free throw opportunity.

Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn simply pointed to the Celtics' shooting percentage and offered it as the story of the game.

"We missed shots that we should have made, and that's it," Heinsohn said.

A victory in Game Six at Boston Friday night would send the 76ers into the East final.

Two other NBA quarter-final series, both tied 2-2, resume Friday night. The Washington Bullets visit the Houston Rockets and the Golden State Warriors meet the Lakers at Los Angeles in a contest to be telecast nationally at 11:30 p.m., EDT.

The Portland Trail Blazers take a 3-1 series lead to Denver for a Sunday game against the Nuggets.

Depleted Tigers Survive

White Sox Blast Five Homers In 10-9 Loss

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers were depleted, but not defeated.

They were battered, but became better batters than Chicago.

Detroit, with three regulars out of the lineup, lost a home-run derby to the White Sox, but managed to outlast them for a 10-9 baseball victory Wednesday.

Chicago belted five home runs. The Tigers had just two — but one was Jason Thompson's grand slam in the seven-run third inning off Francisco Barrios.

However, the game's decisive hit was a ground single through the right side of the infield by rookie Steve Kemp in the sixth inning. It scored the Tigers' final two runs and made a loser of knuckle-baller Bruce Dal Canton, 9-1.

"That don't mean a thing when you come up short," White Sox Manager Bob Lemon said of his team's homers. "A couple ground balls beat us. (Buster) Staub's and Kemp's opened up that (sixth) inning."

The game was similar to Tuesday's 14-inning slugfest, won by Chicago, 10-7. Detroit wasted a six-run inning in that one.

"Son of a gun if we didn't come close to losing two games in which we scored six runs in one inning and seven runs in another," said Tiger Manager Ralph Houk.

The World Champion Cincinnati Reds are in town tonight for a sandlot benefit exhibition. Rookie left-hander Bob Sykes is Detroit's likely starter, while the Reds are expected to counter with Santo Alcala.

The Tigers will be without third baseman Aurelio Rodriguez. He went on the 15-day disabled list Wednesday with a sprained ankle, suffered when he slid home Tuesday.

Second baseman Tito Fuentes was injured in the same inning sliding into second and is out with a pulled hamstring muscle in his left leg.

To take Rodriguez' place on the roster, Detroit purchased infielder Luis Alvarado from the New York Mets. The Tigers had sold Alvarado to the Mets in spring training. He was expected to report today.

Chuck Scrivener played second base, Phil Mankowski third and Mickey Stanley right field — in place of Ben Oglivie, who was in Louisville, Ky., for the funeral of a close relative.

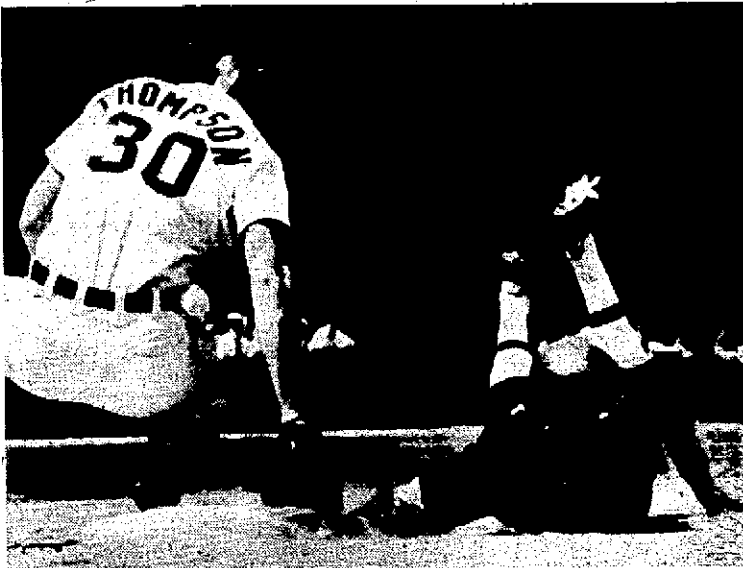

Tiger starter Ray Bare, who entered the game with a 9.58 earned-run-average, continued to unimpress. He gave up a two-run homer to Richie Zisk in the first inning, an RBI single to Alan Bannister in the third and a two-run homer to Royle Stillman in the fourth.

He gave up another run in the fifth on a single by Jorge Orta off similarly inept reliever Jim Crawford — who gave up successive homers in the sixth to Eric Soderholm and Chet Lemon.

The final White Sox homer was a pinch hit blast by Oscar Gamble in the eighth off winner Fernando Arroyo, 1-2, who has been pretty effective in six appearances this year.

Detroit, which got a solo homer from Milt May in the second, began the run-barrage in the third with Thompson's grand slam. Tom Verzyer singled in a run and Ron LeFlore got a two-run single.

SOX SAFE: Chicago White Sox' Alan Bannister dove safely back into first on Detroit Tiger pick off loss from pitcher Ray Bare to first baseman Jason Thompson in third inning Wednesday at Tiger Stadium. Thompson hit a grand slam home run in the same inning while helping the Tigers to a 10-9 victory. (AP Wirephoto)

Alumni Ousting Hayes?

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A disgruntled group of influential Ohio State alumni is spearheading a drive to force the retirement of Buckeye football coach Woody Hayes, the Michigan State News reported Thursday.

The story in the State News, the student newspaper at Michigan State, comes as the NCAA and Big Ten conduct inquiries into recruiting practices of Hayes and his staff.

The State News quoted one influential OSU alumnus as saying "the drive to get Hayes to retire actually started last summer."

"Many were fed up with his hurting the university's integrity by hitting people and such," the Columbus-based source said.

He continued, "It reached the point last summer that a group of us made arrangements to charter a plane for the first game and fly over the stadium with a banner which read 'Impeach Woody.'"

"But when the university administration got wind of our idea, they urged us to let them handle it in a more professional manner," he explained.

The OSU alumnus added that, "I don't think Woody will be the coach at OSU next season. The victory over Colorado (in the Orange Bowl) may have saved his job for awhile, but it's time for his retirement."

Another source, who the paper said was close to Hayes and his football staff for several years, confirmed there is an alumni movement to force Hayes into early retirement.

Meanwhile, Dan Heinen, director of the OSU alumni association, downplayed the idea of such a scheme, saying, "That is honestly the first I've heard of it and I usually have a pulse on the latest rumors."

Hayes, acting athletic director Hugh Hindman and outgoing athletic director Ed Weaver were not available for comment.

Adding Nine Holes At Pipestone Creek

Dustin Real Do-It-Yourselfer

By JOHN VANDEN HEEDÉ
Sports Editor

Bruce Dustin of Eau Claire is a real do-it-yourselfer.

Some of us take pride in changing our car's sparkplugs or fixing a leaky kitchen faucet, but that's all child's play compared to what Dustin is doing....he's building his own golf course!

Dustin is adding nine holes to his Pipestone Creek Golf Course on Naomi road in Berrien County's Pipestone township. Construction work is now underway, and the additional nine holes should be ready for play in June or July of 1978.

Dustin, who has been operating the Pipestone Creek course with his wife, Bonnie, since 1960, isn't a professional golf course designer or builder, but he's got the background to get the job done.

"I'm a turf man and my formal education comes basically from practical experience," says Dustin.

Prior to taking over the Pipestone Creek facility, Dustin worked with his father, Lee, 19 years at Berrien Hills Country Club in Benton Harbor. Lee

Dustin was the course's superintendent for 44 years, and he also built the original Pipestone course, with Bruce's help, in the late 1950s. (At one time there were seven members of the Dustin family serving as golf course superintendents in Michigan and Indiana.)

Back in 1971, Bruce also added 24 acres to his Pipestone course and built three new holes and a driving range.

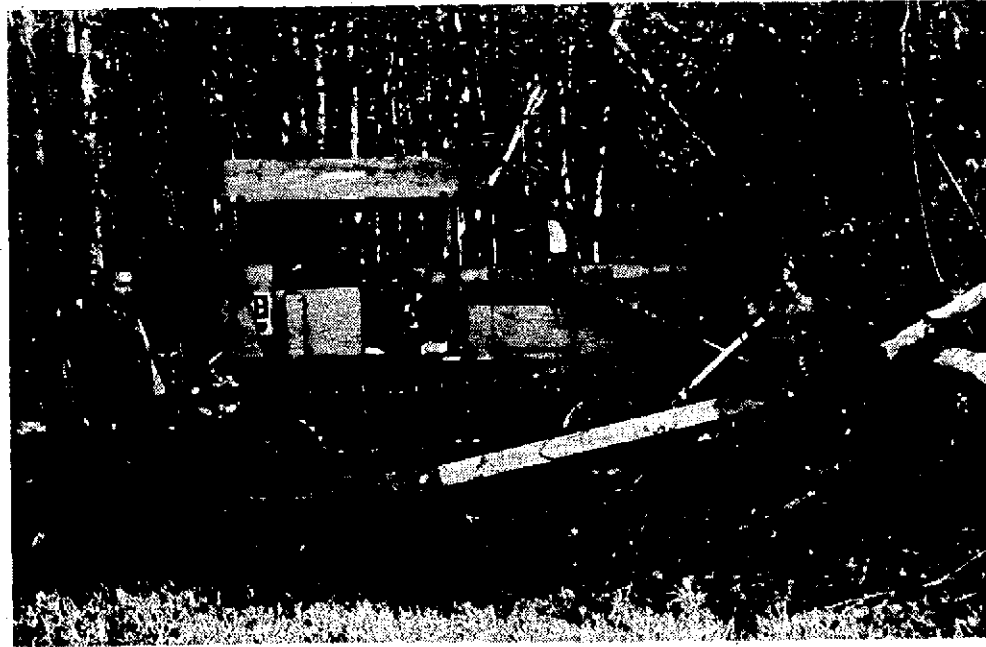

The current expansion will include 27 acres purchased recently from Ivan LaVanway, plus the driving range. All the holes but one will be constructed outside the present course, and play isn't being hampered on any hole.

"I would like to impress on the people that we are not going to be in their way," declares Dustin.

About one-third of the land purchased from LaVanway is woods, so Dustin is starting his project by having timber removed for fairway space. A bulldozer will shape tees and greens.

Required top soil for greens and tees will then be hauled in and an irrigation system installed. Next comes the seeding.

CLEARING EIGHTH FAIRWAY: Bulldozer operated by Henry Schinske of Eau Claire clears woods at Pipestone Creek Golf Course for new eighth fairway. Bruce Dustin (left), the owner of the Pipestone township course, is adding nine holes to the facility. Dustin designed the addition and is doing much of the work himself. (Staff photo)

Denny First Pitcher With Five Wins

Cardinals Clobber Cubs, 21-3

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
John Denny of the St. Louis Cardinals is the first pitcher in the major leagues to win five games this season, but it is no surprise — he has had more than a little help from his friends.

In his five mound appearances, the Cardinals have backed Denny with 52 runs. Wednesday he was the beneficiary of 19 hits and 21 runs as the Cards pounded six Chicago pitchers for a 21-3 triumph over the Cubs.

"I'd like to think the guys have a lot of confidence in me and they'll swing their bats for me," said Denny. "This year I think they're averaging 10 runs a game for me, and that's nice."

The 24-year-old right-hander, who was 11-9 last season but led the National League in earned run average, credits his development as a pitcher to a more mature attitude he has acquired in the past year, when he says he began to understand the meaning of Christianity.

"Over the last year I've had a lot of spiritual experiences," said Denny. "Through the help of teammates like Bob Forsch and Don Kessinger, I've accepted Jesus Christ. He comes first; pitching comes second."

In other National League games Wednesday, the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Atlanta Braves 3-1, the Pittsburgh Pirates topped the Philadelphia Phillies 7-3, the Montreal Expos edged the New York Mets 3-2, the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the San Diego Padres 7-6, and the San Francisco Giants trimmed the Houston Astros 3-2.

Johnson New Twins' Ace

Relief Star Puts Minnesota In First

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bill Campbell's treasure map led to Boston, but the Minnesota Twins still turn to their bullpen for some riches of their own.

Things looked bleak for the Twins when Campbell, the American League Fireman of the Year in 1976 with 17 victories and 20 saves, played out his option and signed with the Boston Red Sox, who made him a rich man. But Tom Johnson is doing the same things Campbell did for Minnesota while Campbell is having his problems with his new club.

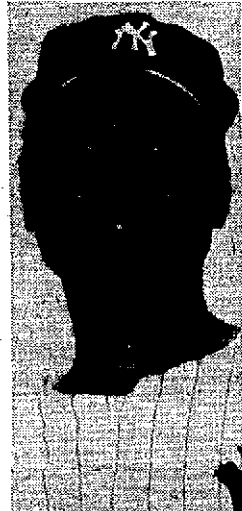

Although he was scored on Wednesday for the first time in seven appearances this season, Johnson notched his third consecutive triumph, in Minnesota's 5-3 victory over the Seattle Mariners, with Butch Wynegar's two-run single capping a three-run seventh-inning rally.

The Twins have won three straight and nine of their last 11 games and are tied for the lead in the American League West with the surprising Oakland A's, who came from five runs behind and beat the California Angels 7-5.

Elsewhere in the AL, the Milwaukee Brewers downed the Boston Red Sox 4-2, the New York Yankees edged the Baltimore Orioles 4-3, the Detroit Tigers outlasted the Chicago White Sox 10-9, the Texas Rangers blanked the Kansas City Royals 5-0 and the Toronto Blue Jays nipped the Cleveland Indians 6-5 in 12 innings.

MARTY PEREZ

DOCK ELLIS

MIKE TORREZ

Yanks Swap Perez, Ellis To Oakland For Torrez

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a carefully structured trade between two of baseball's most skilled flesh dealers. George Steinbrenner of the New York Yankees and Charlie Finley of the Oakland A's prepared to swap players.

The matter was clear-cut. Steinbrenner could have Oakland right-hander Mike Torrez if he agreed to surrender pitcher Dock Ellis, infielder Marty Perez and minor league outfielder Larry Murray.

Things bogged down a bit over Murray. "Steinbrenner offered me $200,000 if we wouldn't take Murray," recalled the A's owner. "I TURNED IT DOWN, AND I think that's important because some people are saying I'm trying to dismantle this team to get cash. That's 100 per cent untrue."

Fine. All was agreed. What remained was a little added attraction, so Steinbrenner "threw in two choice seats for the Kentucky Derby. He's going to enter his horse — I think the name is Steve's Friend — in the race tomorrow," said Finley.

"He also promised me I could lead the horse into the victory circle after he wins the Derby."

Seattle Slew might have something to say about that, but Finley spent a number of years leading his late mule mascot, Charlie O, around at various places, so Finley would be well prepared for such duty. Finley, the Derby tickets notwithstanding, claims to have come out ahead in "one of the better deals I've made in baseball." He got Ellis, the right-hander who won 17 games for the AL East champions last year. He got Perez, who like Ellis was unsigned but will "help at second base." And he got Murray, who played just eight games for the Yankees last year but is "one heck of a prospect. We like speed, and he stole 59 bases last year at West Haven" of the Eastern League.

New York Manager Billy Martin got something too, it seems. A little more aggravation from his boss. The two have not seen eye-to-eye on a number of matters.

"I guess they (Ellis and Perez) both went because they're unsigned," he said solemnly. "I hate to lose them. I didn't make the trade. You'll have to ask George Steinbrenner."

Upton Posts Win

First Ace

Blossom Trails golf course recorded its first hole-in-one of the season Saturday, April 23.

Paul Nickerson of Milwaukee recorded the first ace of his golfing career at the course. Dave Price and Wiley Tayne, both from St. Joseph, were his playing partners. He aced the par-3, 12th hole which stretches 164 yards.

Berrien Captures Watervliet Relays

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer
WATERVLIET — Berrien Springs used its depth and versatility to perfection here Wednesday night to surprise the field in the sixth annual Watervliet Invitational Relays.

The Shamrocks scored only one first but made up for that by placing in 11 of the 13 events to take home the first-place trophy with 34 points. Berrien beat out Edwardsburg (31½) and Watervliet (26½) in the large turnout of 20 schools under perfect weather conditions.

"Overall we just have a good group of kids who really work hard," praised Shamrock coach Ed Hempel. "We have a large group of average runners, which really paid off in an event like this. I think our depth really won it for us."

"We don't have any real outstanding individuals. We have a group who is really coming on and really did their thing tonight."

"We were just hoping to finish in the top three. But I guess we just snuck in the back door."

Berrien, 6-1 in dual meets this season, did get one super individual effort from Jack Lewis in the discus. The 6-5 Lewis set an all-time southwestern Michigan area record with a toss of 139 feet, 3 inches. This is only the second year in which the discus has been an event in state high school track.

Lewis and Wayne Stover combined for a meet record 262 feet, 4½ inches with Stover throwing the discus 123 feet, 11½ inches. Last year's meet mark was 237 feet, 10¼ inches.

Berrien Springs now has won the Watervliet title two of the last three years. Watervliet was defending champion.

The Shamrocks will get an opportunity for another championship this Friday with the running of the Blossomtime Relays at Berrien Springs. The Blossomtime Relays for girls was scheduled to be run today.

There were three records set with the middle distance relay and mile relay marks falling in addition to the discus record.

Gobles ran a 6:04.5 in the middle distance relay to break the old mark of 6:07.7. The squad consisted of Shaun Killeen, Randy Koehn, Chuck Pylon and Todd Smith.

The Decatur mile relay team of Wayne Green, Nick Athens, Steve Overley and Corney Phelps went a speedy 3:30.65 to better the old mark of 3:30.8. The Raider foursome of Dennis Warkentien, Dob Creagan, Green and Phelps just missed a record by three-tenths of a second in winning the Watervliet Relay (11:03.30-226-440).

The Eddie's picked up three firsts to top the field, taking the two-mile, four-mile and deadlocking for the high jump.

Edwardsburg's Kevin Dycus and Jeff Parker of Watervliet waged a heated battle in the high jump with both ending at 6 feet, 4¾ inches. The team of Dycus and Rob Wilfert and the duo of Parker and Pat Curtis also shared the overall top spot at 12 feet, 7 inches. The Panthers also got a first from its shuttle hurdle relay team.

New Buffalo's 880 and 440 relay teams of Rogey Null, Warren Denardo, Roger Lijewski and Mark D'Amato captures firsts while speeding to second spots in both categories in the weekly boys honor roll.

Lake Michigan grabbed first in the long jump at 39 feet, 11 inches with Andy Rodez going 20 feet, 6 inches and Phil Banks 19 feet, 5 inches.

Sensational Brandywine freshman pole vaulter Tony

SHAMROCKS CHAMPS: Berrien Springs captured the Watervliet Invitational championship Wednesday with a total of 34 points. The Shamrocks took only one first but their overall depth proved decisive. Twenty schools competed in the sixth annual event. This was the second Shamrock title in six years. (Staff photo)

PARKER JUMPS: Jeff Parker of Watervliet attempts to clear the bar in the high jump in the Watervliet Relays Wednesday night. Parker and Kevin Dycus of Edwardsburg shared the top jump of 6 feet, 4¾ inches. The Panthers and Eddie's also tied for the overall event with Parker pairing with Pat Curtis and Dycus with Rob Wilfert. Both teams went 12 feet, 7 inches. (Staff photo)

Mudd cleared 12 feet, 5 inches to win the top spot along with teammate Rick Hall.

Eight members of the Brandywine team were involved in an auto accident on their way to the meet, according to head coach Jim Murray, the driver of the station wagon. Murray said none of the passengers in his car were injured seriously.

Murray said two of the youths were taken to the hospital as a precautionary measure while the rest continued to the track meet.

Bears Sign Parks

CHICAGO (AP) — Veteran wide receiver Billy Parks has signed as a free agent with the Chicago Bears, the National Football League club announced Wednesday.

Parks, who caught 41 passes for 609 yards in 10 games in his 1971 rookie season, is the seventh wide receiver under contract with the Bears.

Parks has 123 career receptions for 1,826 yards and seven touchdowns. He was waived by the Houston Oilers last year.

In 1972, he was traded to Dallas in a deal that sent Duane Thomas to the San Diego Chargers. In 1973, he was obtained by Houston, along with Tody Smith for high draft choices.

Sportscaster After Scalp Of Robinson

CLEVELAND (AP) — Joe Tait, veteran sportscaster for the Cleveland Indians, has become the latest voice calling for the scalp of Manager Frank Robinson.

"I honestly don't think Frank will stay," Tait said Wednesday night. "I don't think the club's going to turn around and I don't think he's the man to turn it around. A change has to come pretty quick."

"I don't believe Frank has the mental and emotional capability to manage well," Tait said. "He's not a good instructor or leader and I don't think he brings out the players' ability."

Cleveland's 6-5 loss to Toronto in 13 innings Wednesday night was the Indians' seventh in a row and 10th in 14 games.

Lakers Top Red Arrow

Strong defense gave Lake Michigan Catholic sole possession of the Red Arrow baseball lead Wednesday.

The Lakers committed just three errors, two on one play, in bombing Berrien Springs 10-1 in the battle of league leaders. The Lakers are now 5-1 in Red Arrow play, while Berrien slipped to 4-2.

Hartford and Watervliet kept their title hopes alive with Wednesday wins. The Indians upped their league record to 4-2 by blanking Eau Claire 7-0 and the Panthers moved to 3-2 by edging New Buffalo 11-9.

In Wednesday's other game, Bridgman smashed Galien 23-2. The 23 runs were the most scored by a Red Arrow baseball team since Lake Michigan Catholic crushed the same Gaels 30-2 in 1971.

Early defensive lapses cost the Lakers, who dropped three of their first four games. But first-year coach Gary Boyce believes his team is coming around.

"Our key personnel have started coming through defensively," he says. "I switched John Spear from second base to third and that has helped."

"But the big thing is that Gary Bartolone (shortstop) and Scott Mucia (second base) have started to relax and play defense. The fact that we are making the basic plays is what is doing it."

The Lakers turned over three double plays against the Shamrocks. And Richard Maxwell's pitching also played a big role in the Catholic win.

Maxwell, now 4-0 in the Red Arrow, hurled a seven-hitter, struck out eight and did not walk a batter.

The Lakers, who collected 10 hits, broke the game open with a big five-run second inning. Mucia and Ron Maddux were the big hitting stars. Mucia slammed a double and a single to drive in three runs and Maddux belted three hits and plated two runs.

Tony Sammons had a double and a single for Berrien.

Bridgman exploded for 20 runs in the first three innings in its near-record performance. The Bees, now 2-3 in league play, tallied nine runs in the second inning and added seven more in the third.

The Bees collected 13 hits and also took advantage of 10 walks and eight Galien errors.

Tom Meredith belted a home run and a double to drive in three runs for the winners. Bob Weed collected three hits and drove in two runs and winning pitcher Bill Moreland clouted a three-run double.

Mark Birtman starred in Hartford's win. Birtman pitched a brilliant one-hitter, striking out 11 and walking just one. Offensively, he slammed a triple and a single.

Hartford broke the game open with six runs in the seventh. Will Renbarger took the loss for the Beavers, now 1-5 in league play.

A six-run fourth inning carried Watervliet past New Buffalo. The Bison, 2-1 in Red Arrow play, led 6-3 before the Panther explosion.

Tim Hardy slammed two doubles and two singles to drive in three runs. Mike Marvin added a double and two singles to plate two runs and Gary Lewis slammed a homer for Watervliet.

BH Takes Third Straight

MUSKEGON — Strong pitching continues to keep Benton Harbor's baseball team rolling.

Jeff Williams picked up the win for Benton Harbor, but he needed relief help in the sixth inning from Steve McNitt.

"If the pitching keeps holding up, we'll be alright," Tiger coach Paul Withite said. "I have to be pleased with the pitching so far. We're not walking anybody, usually just two or three a game. And we're playing good defense."

Benton Harbor, now 4-3 overall, committed just two errors in the victory.

The Tigers tallied twice in the first inning and added three more in the second. Craig Stephens' two-run homer in the second brought in what proved to be the winning runs.

Jeff Phillips singled in one run and another scored on an error in the first inning for the Tigers. Benton Harbor then added the three in the second on an error, a passed ball, Tom Ackerman's single and Stephens' homer.

Plangger's Improved?

Plangger's Furniture softball team will be seeking to improve on success this summer.

Plangger's produced its best team ever last year. The fast-pitch club finished at 68-37 while winning the Michiana Traveling league, taking three tournament titles and finishing second in two others.

The local team, which starts its season this weekend at home, is hoping for even better things in 1977.

"Last year we had a pretty good season, especially considering the caliber of competition we play," voices manager and sponsor Rich Plangger. "We expect to do better this year."

"Our younger players should be better with a year of experience. Our pitching and defense were quite good last year but our hitting wasn't as good. So we expect a little more hitting this year."

Plangger's will go basically with the same crew from last year. Kirk Hocker and Wally Vernasco are the only newcomers.

Rick Plangger leads a strong Plangger's pitching staff. Plangger was the ace of the team last year with a 43-23 mark. Also back are George Luther (16-7) and the elder Plangger (9-7). All three had ERA's of around 1.40 last season.

Rick Davis, who paced the team in hitting last year at .282, will patrol the outfield along with Nick Shushman, Jeff Weaver and Hocker.

Fred Chabot will play first, Jerry Hinman second, Ron Mandarino shortstop while Vic Gillette and Dick Hocker will alternate at third. Doug Wymer and Vernasco are the catchers. Lee Chabot will be an utility player.

Plangger's opens its ambitious schedule (about 92 games)

Saturday at 7:30 p.m. with a doubleheader against Coldwater at Plangger's Park. Plangger's will host Kenosha (Wis.) Sunday at 1:30 in a twin bill.

Plangger's will hold its own tournament June 10, 11 and 12 and also will host the state double A finals Aug. 12, 13 and 14. The winner of that event will advance to the national double A finals Sept. 9-16 at Midland.

Girls Softball

BEARS FALTER
Battle Creek Lakeview broke open a close game with eight runs in the sixth inning in beating St. Joseph 20-10 in a non-league girls softball game Wednesday.

Jill Hemingway slammed three singles, scored three runs and drove in two others for the Bears, now 3-3. Losing pitchers Terry Collins and Cathy Bock each added two hits.

BANGOR FALLS
Galesburg-Augusta scored five runs in the third and added four more in the fourth in beating Bangor 18-7.

Judy Mortensen collected three hits for the Vikings, now 1-2, both in KVA play and overall.

PANTHERS UNBEATEN
Watervliet stayed unbeaten by bombing New Buffalo 26-5 in a Red Arrow contest. Dorothy Bohm hurled a five-hitter as the Panthers upped their record to 5-0.

The win was a special one for Watervliet. One of the Panther coaches, Rob Delany, suffered an apparent heart attack before Tuesday's game with Hartford. The team dedicated Wednesday's game to Delany.

Brenda Higginbottom paced the 21-hit Watervliet attack with two doubles and two singles. Kim Philippi, Kathy Coburn and Julie Baiers each added three hits.

BEAVERS SCALP INDIANS
Eau Claire tallied 10 runs in the fourth inning in ripping Hartford 22-12 in another Red Arrow clash. The Beavers collected 24 hits in running their league record to 4-2.

Eau Claire was led by Tammy Vladic, who belted two doubles and a single, scored three runs and drove in two others. Winning pitcher Carla Hahn added three singles, scored two runs and drove in three. Karen Layman clouted three singles with two runs scored and three runs batted in. Markay Vladic smashed two doubles and a single and scored three runs. Linda Froehlich had three singles and scored four runs.

LAKERS NIP ROCKS
Lake Michigan Catholic rallied from a 6-0 deficit to overcome Berrien Springs 8-6 in a Red Arrow game.

Trailing 6-0 in the third, the Lakers scored four runs in the third, added one in the fourth and won the game with three in the sixth.

Shelly Schmid picked up the victory, limiting the Shamrocks to just four hits. Schmid and Maureen McCrone also paced the Laker attack with a double and a single apiece.

Ann Prillwitz slammed a double and a single for Berrien.

REDSKINS RAMP
Paw Paw scored 20 runs in the first four innings and crushed Decatur 33-10 in a non-league contest.

The Redskins, now 5-0, scored seven runs in the first, added 10 in the second and six in the third and fourth innings.

Linda Preston slammed a home run and two doubles to pace Paw Paw. Darla Krueger added a triple, a double, and a single and Jodie Bates collected three singles for the winners.

LAWRENCE WINS TWO
Lawrence swept a SAC doubleheader, beating Bloomingdale 19-11 and Martin 24-19.

Kathy Beeching slammed three hits to spark the first-game win for the Tigers. Sheila Renner belted a three-run homer and Sherry Lyons had three hits to help Lawrence in the second contest.

The Tigers now stand 3-0 in SAC play and 4-1 overall.

NILES TIPS KAZOO
Niles scored three runs in the first inning and never trailed in tripping Kalamazoo Central 7-4.

Kim Works pitched a five-hitter for the winners, now 4-1. Debbie Noble slammed a double and two singles.

GAELES STING BEES
Sue Heller pitched a four-hitter as Gallien toppled Bridgman 13-2 in a Red Arrow contest.

Heller also slammed a home run and a triple and drove in two runs for the winners, now 3-3 in the league and 3-4 overall.

Roxanne James, Sheryl Krieger, Terry Marsh and Beth Schau also collected two hits for Gallien, which tallied eight runs in the third inning.

Western Drops Spartans Twice

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Jeff Kenaga drove in three runs in the opener and slammed a double in the nightcap as Western Michigan downed Michigan State 11-4 and 4-3 in a noconference college baseball doubleheader Wednesday.

Kenaga had three hits and three RBIs in the opener. Cliff Norghey had three hits and a pair of RBIs for the Spartans.

Consecutive doubles by Kenaga and Brad Fischer allowed Western to overcome a 3-2 deficit in the sixth inning of the second game. The Broncos are now 11-13. MSU is 14-18.

State Scoreboard

Baseball
Northwood lost 13-4; Siena Hts 6-1; Western Michigan 11-4; Michigan State 4-3; Hope 3-5; Kalamazoo 1-5; U-Detroit 11-0; Adrian 0-5.

ND Spring Tilt Saturday

SOUTH BEND — The 47th annual Blue Gold Game will conclude spring action for the 1977 edition of the Notre Dame football team Saturday afternoon. The contest will begin at 3 p.m. in Notre Dame Stadium.

Fans will be able to participate in a special photo-taking session beginning at 1:30 on the field.

The Irish have been relatively injury-free at key positions this spring. Of the 20 returning starters from last year's 9-3 club only Al Hunter and Ken MacAfee have missed a significant amount of work. Hunter will be held out of further competition due to a knee injury, but MacAfee will return for the contest after missing most of the spring due to a kidney ailment.

The position getting most of the attention has been quarterback, where Joe Montana, Rusty Lisch and Gary Forystek have been battling all spring.

Lisch is currently rated No. 1 on the depth chart. The 6-4 Belleville, Ill., native connected eight of nine passes for 147 yards in a recent scrimmage. Montana has been sharp directing the Notre Dame wing-T attack. He has been especially effective running the option. Forystek was also performing admirably until an ankle injury sidelined him last week.

The wide-receiver slot is the only other position left vacant due to graduation. Tom Domin is currently running first team in the wake of an injury to Kris Haines, who had been first string most of the spring. Speedy Hart, Tim Simon and Leo Driscoll back up Domin at the moment.

Hunter's injury has caused a realignment in the backfield. Dave Wayner, who performed most of last fall on defense, has been the first team right halfback the last two weeks. Co-Captain Terry Eurick is at left halfback. Freshmen Willard Browner and Vagas Ferguson are currently tied for the starting fullback slot. The second team performers are Steve Schmitz and Steve Dover at the halfback positions, with Steve Orsini at fullback.

The top Irish defense, which returns all 11 starters, has been uninjured this spring. Russ Browner has been outstanding from his left defensive end position as has co-captain Willie Fry from the opposite flank. Mike Calhoun and Ken Dike have also been solid at the tackles. Randy Harrison and Joe Restie are currently in a dead heat for the free safety position. Jim Browner, Luther Bradley and Ted Burginier are also on Notre Dame's last line of defense. Bob Golie, Doug Becker and last year's leading tackler Steve Heimkrieter, have been mainstays at linebacker all spring. Veteran performer Pete Johnson, who was the top replacement at both outside and middle linebacker, underwent knee surgery last week but should be available in the fall.

All proceeds from the game go to the Scholarship Fund of the Notre Dame Club of St. Joseph Valley. Advanced ticket price is only $2.50 per adult and $1 for youths 17 years and under. Tickets on game day are priced at $3 and $1.50.

Lawrence, Decatur Win

Good relief pitching helped Lawrence and Decatur post SAC baseball victories Wednesday.

Jim Mason pitched the final three innings as Lawrence rallied for a 14-9 victory over Martin. Kurt Wiese got the final out as Decatur nipped Lawton 3-2 in a rare night game.

Mason entered the game with his team trailing 5-2, but Lawrence rallied for five runs in the fourth and five more in the fifth.

Jim McLemore drove in three runs with a home run, a double and a single for Lawrence, now 2-0 in SAC play and 4-0 overall. Mason and Joe Hillman also collected three hits apiece.

Ken Vandenberg collected a triple, a double and a single and drove in three runs for Martin, now 0-2 in the league.

Dave Gebhardt picked up the victory, but it was Wiese who saved the day for Decatur. With runners at first and second and two out in the seventh, Wiese came in to strike out Kevin Gray and clinch Decatur's victory.

Art Kortway was the loser for Lawton, despite giving up just three hits. All three Decatur runs were unearned.

Jack Burke and Russ Sprang drove in the Lawton runs.

Decatur is now 1-0 in the league, while Lawton fell to 1-2.

Steinle Sparkles

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Rob Steinle pitched a one-hitter as Berrien Springs junior varsity baseball team blanked New Buffalo 7-0 Wednesday night.

Steinle struck out seven and walked two in his sparkling effort. John Burge had two singles for the Shamrocks, now 3-1.

Celebrate HAGGAR WEEK

Saluting America's Best Known Name In Slacks.

Rohring's is proud to bring you a ten day celebration of Haggar Slacks, sportcoats, and vests. We have the newest looks available and we want you to take a look this week.

CASUAL AND CONTEMPORARY. SPORT COATS, VESTS, AND SLACKS FROM THE GALLERY BY HAGGAR.

A subtle play of light and color, dimmed as though by distance. That's the appeal of this tri-blend of Fortrel® polyester, cotton, and acrylic.

Artfully styled in a sport coat, reversible vest, and slacks, this matching 3-piece outfit from The Gallery is a genuine masterpiece.

The sport coat features lower open patch pockets, notch lapels, and gentle shaping at the waist. The trim fitting slacks are the Classic™ model with quarter-top pockets, single welt sideseams, and belt loops sewn into the bandseam.

With a tie or "open collar casual," this is a look that'll see you through spring in style.

AND THEN, ELECTRIC CARS

Electric Buses Close At Hand

By JOSEPH R. TYBOR
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — You probably will not be driving an electric car for 20 years or more, but you may be riding a battery-powered city bus sooner than you think.

Chloride, Inc., which claims to be the world's largest manufacturer of batteries, and Electric Vehicle Associates, a small electric car maker, have merged their common interests into a new holding company which this year will begin to produce battery-powered buses for city transit, theme parks and other uses.

Formation of EVA-Chloride was announced this week at the Electric Vehicle Exposition, which continues through Friday. It is a unique first-time expo of more than 100 exhibits including electrically powered vehicles that run the gamut from a fire ambulance to delivery trucks.

Industry sources at the conference say interest was never greater in electrically powered vehicles but mass production remains years away.

There are about 110 million street vehicles in the nation now, they say, and only about 3,000 electrically powered cars.

Frederick J. Port, chairman of ESB, Inc., of Philadelphia, another battery manufacturer, said President Carter's energy message "casts a brighter light than ever before" on the future of electric cars. He gave what is considered a rosy estimate of 7 million electric cars in use by 1990, still a small fraction of the nation's total number of vehicles.

Rep. Mike McCormack, D-Wash., sponsor of the $100 million electric car research legislation that was passed last year over former President Ford's veto, said notable production of electrically powered "commuter cars" is still about seven years away.

He predicted, however, that by the 21st century about half the vehicles on the road in the nation will be battery-powered.

Such cars, he said, will not compete with Detroit's models in performance but will be second cars primarily for in-town use. They will have a range of about 100 miles, a maximum speed of about 60 miles per hour and the safety features of today's gas-fueled autos.

Nevertheless, the corporate decision by Chloride and EVA signals a turn away from the moment from electric car marketing.

B.D. Edwards, director of Chloride's Motor Power Projects, said marketing of the electric car "promises the greatest payoff" for the industry but has a way to go before becoming feasible.

"In electrically powered-vehicle production, the bus is today's project, the (delivery) van is tomorrow's and the electric car is next week's," says W.C. Harhay, president of the Cleveland-based EVA.

Harhay says the new holding company plans to build about a dozen buses this year and already has a market for them in Great Britain. A company spokesman said about 50 cities have expressed interest in the buses.

Within five years, Harhay hopes to be marketing more than 100 vehicles. "Our corporate philosophy is one of understatement," he says. "There has been too much overpromotion and too much underproduction in this industry. I want to meet or exceed my goals."

EVA and Chloride officials believe the electric vehicle with its limited range and speed is more suited for planned routes and deliveries.

Further, they believe a trans-sit system or a company with a fleet vehicles is more apt to consider overall maintenance and operating costs in considering purchases. The single car buyer, they believe, usually looks at price first.

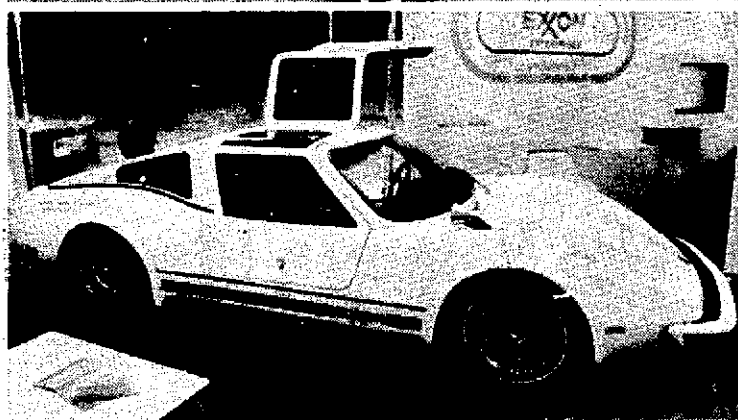

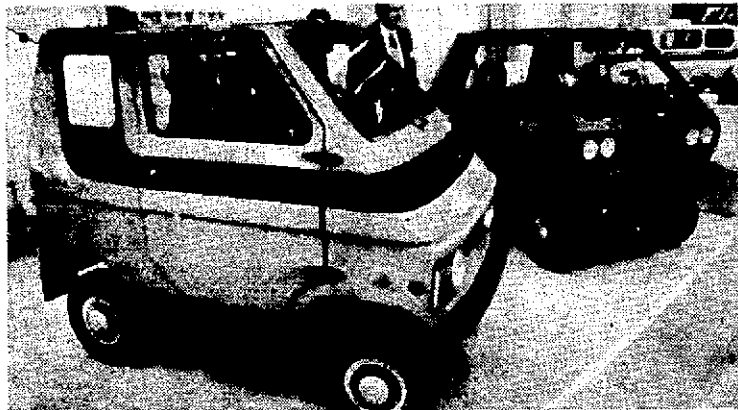

Five electric buses have been operating in Long Beach, Calif., since 1974.

Chloride officials say their bus will seat 30, travel up to 40 miles per hour and 40 miles per charge. They say the Long Beach buses complete six-hour runs before being recharged.

Chloride officials say the Long Beach experiment has shown that the battery-powered buses can compete in total costs with conventionally diesel-powered buses over the lifetime of the respective vehicles. The battery-powered bus costs about twice as much as the conventional bus.

Camping Fee Hearings Set

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Public hearings will be held Monday in Marquette and Gaylord on legislation to levy a $5 annual camping fee in state forest campgrounds.

The hearings before the House Tourist Industry Relations Committee also will concern the competitive relationship between state-owned campgrounds and privately-owned facilities.

Hearings will be at 10 a.m. in the Marquette Holiday Inn and at 3 p.m. in the Gaylord State Bank. A hearing was held earlier in Muskegon.

FREDERICK STORASKA
Say 'No' to a Rapist

Rape Prevention Expert To Talk At LMC May 4

A controversial authority on the subject of rape prevention will address Lake Michigan college students and the general public in a student senate-sponsored lecture on Wednesday evening, May 4, in the LMC Blue lecture hall.

Frederick Storaska, author of the book "How to Say No to a Rapist and Survive," will start the lecture at 7:30 p.m. and will have a question-and-answer period afterwards. Admission is free to all.

In the past 12 years, Storaska has presented his rape-prevention program to almost a million students at over 600 colleges and universities across the country. In addition, more than 275 cases have been reported in which his program has prevented serious assault and even saved lives. His preventive techniques have been the subject of much controversy and debate among police and other public officials.

Storaska established the National Rape and Assault Prevention center in May, 1972, and as a result of its success he founded the National Organization for the Prevention of Rape and Assault Inc., a non-profit organization, in May, 1974.

He was the exclusive speaker on rape-prevention at the World Congress of Crime Prevention in May, 1975, and has been featured nationally on literally hundreds of local television and radio shows throughout the country.

In addition, Storaska's book and films are used as an authoritative source of rape-prevention education by the Defense Department and crime prevention units in many police departments.

Storaska's talk is the final lecture of a series sponsored by the student senate during the 1976-77 academic year.

Sex Hormones Cardiac 'Keys'

NEW YORK (AP) — A newly published theory says that a change in the balance of the male and female sex hormones in the body is a key factor in determining a man's chances of suffering a heart attack.

The theory was developed by Dr. Gerald B. Phillips of Columbia University and was based on a study of patients at New York's Roosevelt Hospital. The results of Phillips' work appeared in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

In an interview appearing in the New York Times, Phillips said his theory "ties together a lot of loose ends" about heart attack victims.

The Times said the idea "provides a fundamental physiologic explanation of a wide variety of risk factors that previously had been correlated with heart attacks. In the past, there had been no unifying link between these risk factors which include abnormal blood levels of cholesterol, fats, sugar and insulin."

Phillips studied 15 men who had heart attacks before age 35, along with a control group of 15 men in the same age bracket without serious illness. He reported last July that young men who had heart attacks had an unusually high level of estradiol, a female hormone normally found in men in small amounts only.

According to his theory, the susceptibility of a man to a heart attack is linked to a change in the balance of estradiol and testosterone, a male hormone.

Phillips said that the change in the balance of the hormones leads in some way to biochemical changes that have been linked to heart attacks.

The Times said that after Phillips reported his study last July, he conducted further tests on the same patients to determine how their bodies produced insulin and metabolized glucose, fats and

Series On Delinquency Is Ending

Walter J. Hamner, division-staff training-support manager for General Motors corporation, will be the speaker at the final in-service training session May 11 sponsored for Berrien county educators and social service personnel by the Berrien County Juvenile Court.

The total eight-session project which began in October will be evaluated at the final seminar which begins at 8:30 a.m. at Win Schuler's restaurant in Stevensville, according to Kathleen Joiner, deputy director of court services.

Participants in the program include representatives from all Berrien county public school districts, some parochial schools, and nine other agencies and organizations.

Purposes of the series have been to improve communication channels between educators and social service workers, increase awareness of causes, prevention and treatment of juvenile delinquency and provide alternatives for helping youths with school behavior problems.

French-English Record

Sexy Voice Is Farrah's

HARRY: He'll be singing again

BETTY: Back to acting?

HOT RERUN: French actor Jean Paul Vignon cut a record three years ago called "Toi (You)." Jean Paul sings the song in French while a breathy, sexy female voice translates the lyrics into English. Look for the record to make a big comeback, as the luscious translator is Farrah Fawcett-Majors.

Q: Ann-Margret looks great on TV these days. Like the recent Oscar and Critics' Choice shows, but what's happened to her movie career? — D.S., Covington, Va.

A: Ann-Margret has a couple of films ready for release, "Joseph Andrews," and "The Last Remake of Beau Geste," in which her comedy talent reportedly shines. But she is having trouble finding good properties and wants a serious role again like her Oscar-nominee part in "Carnal Knowledge." It looks like the film version of "Evita," the hit record opera, may prove the perfect vehicle. Can you see her as the evil but beautiful dictator who was a power behind Peron in Argentina?

Q: I'm anxious to see Diana Ross' portrayal of Dorothy in the film version of "The Wiz." But she's such a talented actrix she should do something really challenging. Any chance? — E.Y., River Forest, Ill.

A: Since Diana is in her 30s and is portraying a young teenager in "The Wiz," that's pretty challenging — but her next role may be the toughest yet. She plans to play a Harlem numbers queen in "Tough Castrix" which contains much less far. The cigarettes will be introduced in England this summer. Don't get your hopes up too high. One of our spies tested the new smokes and reported: "They just tasted like air."

Q: I'm happy to hear Harry Belafonte's going to start recording again but why did he ever stop? — T.K., Palaski, Va.

A: Though Harry's just signed a new three-year, four-album contract with Columbia Records, he never has fulfilled his old contract with RCA. The reasons are several: musical tastes changed but Harry didn't go with them, sticking to his folksy style and for a time that wasn't too commercial. Then he got bogged down at RCA in some prestigious omnibus series of the history of folk songs of America, which was only partially completed and never released. And finally, he became more interested in acting and film production. That's why you'll see him next year in several TV specials — one about Martin Luther King Jr., another portraying Malcolm X and maybe in the title role in a biography about Adam Clayton Powell.

Q: We always thought critic Rex Reed was pretty sharp as an actor in the movie "Myra Breckinridge." Think he'll ever do another? — K.D., Brooklyn

A: Rex has signed to play a film critic in the forthcoming extravaganza, "Superman." He's even got script approval over his own part and that, in case you didn't know, is star treatment.

Q: What's the latest on poor Betty Hutton's plight? You recently said she stopped

DIANA: She wants to be versatile working on her autobiography. — M.A., Chicago

A: Betty's back at work on the book, but who knows for how long? She wants to return to acting most of all, but she hasn't paid any union dues for years. The president of General Studios, Glen Speidel, has helped by paying her Screen Actors Guild dues for the upcoming year. General is a film syndicator. The Screen Actors Guild has also waived collection of Betty's back dues. Now all she has to do is find a role.

New Treatment Gives Baby Chance

By MICHAEL A. CHIBAK
Associated Press Writer

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A baby who spent her first 13 months isolated from the world because she was born without natural defenses against disease is still hospitalized but making progress. The 17-month-old child, known only as Baby Penny because her parents want anonymity, has been out of isolation for the last four months now and is doing well, says one of her doctors.

Penny was born with a deficient thymus, a gland in the throat that helps the body fight off disease. Within 24 hours of birth, she was put in a glass and plastic cubicle to prevent any germs from reaching her. Now she lives in the pediatrics ward at the University of Arizona Medical Center as doctors continue watching to make sure she builds normal immunities to disease.

"She has done remarkably well," says pediatrician James F. Jones. "She has had a couple of illnesses, common virus infections. She had a little more trouble with them than the normal person would. But we didn't do anything different and she recovered." Even the most common virus could have killed Penny before December.

That was when she became the fourth baby in the world known to have undergone a new treatment to help build defenses against disease. She was injected with a laboratory culture grown from tissue taken from a normal baby's thymus. Somehow, doctors say they are not exactly sure what makes it work, the injection helps the body build immunities.

The injection worked on Penny; her body produced some of the antibodies needed to fight off the virus she contracted after being brought out of isolation. "Her reaction to those viruses was not typical, but she still fought them off," he says.

Now that she has established at least some immunities to more common ailments, such as colds and flu, doctors want her to build them against more dangerous diseases. She has received her second series of regular childhood vaccinations for polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and other diseases, Jones says. Tests showed that the first series was successful in helping her to build normal immunities.

If the second series is successful, she will be able to go home, possibly in about a month, he says. Meanwhile, Penny's parents visit her regularly, playing with her the way they were unable to during her first year. In that time, her only contact with other humans was through plastic gloves attached to her germ-free cubicle.

Penny's lack of direct human contact for the first 13 months of her life does not seem to have caused any psychological or emotional problems, Jones says. "She had contact, she was touched, although it was through the gloves," he says. "She is fairly normal in development as far as we can tell."

Penny's parents have two normal children, but lost two others shortly after their births to the same disease — called severe combined immune deficiency — that afflicted Penny.

Van Buren Board Adopts Tax Base

By DENNIS COGSWELL

county board of commissioners yesterday approved the revised equalization report setting the taxable property value of the county at $353,567,041.

The board had been scheduled to approve the report Tuesday night, but was forced to recess the meeting until yesterday when a mistake was discovered in the valuation of personal property in Bloomingdale township.

The change in the Bloomingdale figure necessitated the refiguring of personal property percentage figures for all municipalities, according to Richard Raymond, equalization director, who prepared the report.

The total is 17.44 per cent over the 1976 equalization.

The report is prepared and adopted yearly to determine the taxable property value, or state equalized value (SEV), of real and personal property throughout the county. Taxes are raised by multiplying the SEV by the tax rate. The SEV is to equal 50 per cent of actual market value of the land.

To determine the SEV, the assessed value of the property is multiplied by a number (factor) determined for each taxing unit to bring the equalized value to the projected 50 per cent level.

This year, that factor ranges from one in Waverly township and Bangor city to 2.835 in Arlington township. Raymond said legislation has been at varying times been introduced to require all units to use a factor of one, but there is currently no set requirement.

Last year's SEV was $301,066,000. Raymond said the increase in the new SEV is both a reflection of inflation and new building growth.

Covert township, which experienced a 40.27 per cent jump in SEV to $55,253,897, had the largest increase among townships. Gobles led the county's four cities in percentage gain at 34.36 per cent, for an SEV of $2,743,030.

NEW HEALD KIT: Heald, Inc., US-33 North, Hagar township, north of Benton Harbor, is offering new five horsepower rototiller in semi-kit form. Tiller-walker tractor, called "Groundhog," is equipped with Briggs and Stratton engine and chain-driven transmission with reverse. Groundhog, which comes with engine and wheels pre-assembled, starts at $199.95. Heald also produces three-wheel all-terrain vehicles, garden tractors and trail bikes, in kit form.

Grand Mere Group Seeks Volunteers For Cleanup

The Grand Mere association is seeking volunteers to help in its annual spring cleanup Saturday, April 30, at North Lake park in Grand Mere.

Boy scouts, girl scouts and garden clubs have all been invited to participate, and individual volunteers are also welcome, according to Mrs. Donna Asselin, publicity chairman.

"It would be a good experience for youngsters studying ecology in science classes to get a first-hand view of how man disturbs nature by his careless disposal of unwanted household goods, discarded auto parts and rubbish," Mrs. Asselin said.

"Cans and bottles are of particular concern to low growing vegetation in Grand Mere and the association hopes to see this type of rubbish disposal alleviated when Michigan's returnable bottle bill goes into effect."

The cleanup volunteers are to congregate at 9 a.m. at North Lake park. The association will provide rubbish containers.

Volunteers are encouraged to wear durable shoes or boots.

Refreshments will be served after the cleanup.

The project is in preparation for the association's annual spring hike May 15 through Grand Mere, Mrs. Asselin said.

The Lake Michigan Catholic high school sophomore class will hold a car wash Saturday, April 30, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Hilltop Family center, 1332 Hilltop road, St. Joseph, according to Sue Spear, class treasurer. A car wash will cost $1.50. Proceeds are to be used for class projects, she said.

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan school farm's baby animal exhibit will be open for public viewing Saturday, April 30, from noon until 4 p.m. Throughout this week, students from school district's four elementary schools have visited the farm located on Andrews road north of the city. In addition to viewing the animals, students have also been instructed on care and feeding of a variety of young farm animals.

'Super-Sewer' System Sought

ROMULUS, Mich. (AP) — Officials of 42 western Wayne County communities are pushing ahead with their campaign for a bigger say in the development and operation of a SuperSewer system. The 58-mile, $148 million project is planned for western Wayne County and part of Oakland County. It would terminate at Lake Erie, past the town of Rockwood. Officials said on the system would handle 46 million gallons of sewage a day.

THE WHITE CANE STORY

The thoughtful vision in the mind of a Lions Club member at Christmas time in 1930 resulted in the inauguration of the movement to provide white canes for the blind for their safety in traffic. The idea of the white cane for the blind is credited to Lion George M. Bonham, who, in 1930, was President of the Lions Club of Peoria, Illinois, and through his efforts the Peoria Club presented white canes to the blind of that city.

That movement was brought to the attention of other Lions Clubs, and at an International Convention of Lions in Toronto in 1932 presentation of white canes was adopted as an international movement.

In 1938, the movement was brought to the attention of our state legislature, and the WHITE CANE ORDINANCE was drawn up and passed by the state legislature, giving the blind person with a White Cane the right of way. Many other states have passed similar laws requiring all vehicles to stop when they see a person with a White Cane.

Prison Project Draws Catcalls In Saugatuck

SAUGATUCK — State officials trying to soften the impact of Gov. William Milliken's proposal to put a prison in this area got boos and catcalls from some 600 people at a meeting here last night.

Someone among the opponents hung Perry Johnson, state corrections department director, in effigy in a hallway leading to the meeting room. Johnson was not present for the meeting.

They also were promised a fight by Grand Rapids Atty.

Louis Drain who said his clients, the Prison Action Committee, will wage battles in court and in the legislature to try and block a $6 million appropriation needed to buy and remodel the St. Augustine seminary in Laketown township north of here.

The meeting was called by the Michigan Department of Corrections to further explain Milliken's proposal to the legislature Wednesday that the seminary be among four sites converted to prisons to ease overcrowding.

The PAC group had been making written and personal appeals to Milliken to persuade him not to choose the seminary as a medium security prison for 400 inmates.

Last night, Drain described as a "railroad job" and a "tragic mistake" the formal announcement that the state wants the seminary as a prison.

He said PAC will now aim lobbying efforts at legislators who hold positions on appropriation and budget committees in the state house and senate. Names of those state senators and representatives were passed out to the crowd.

Drain also said a court battle will hinge on the way the state ties and one man stood and retorted: "It sounds like they (prisoners) should be in Sunday school and not prison."

Mintzes also said the seminary-prison would be surrounded by two, 20-foot high fences with rolls of barbed wire in between. A microwave detection system would also be used, Mintzes said.

Ray Kelly, of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, said 500 acres of the 550-acre seminary grounds would be converted to a park — but probably not for two or three years — of nature trails and picnic areas.

Ionia Mayor Fred Thwaites said a large state prison there has added $18 million annually to the community's economy.

Suits Expected, Governor Says

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — While lawmakers' reaction to Gov. William Milliken's call for four new state prisons was described as "fairly positive," the governor said he expects at least two citizens' groups to sue over the plans.

Administration officials predicted there would be strong pressure against the prisons from residents of all four areas proposed as sites for the new facilities. And, they said, the legislature would not be likely to give automatic approval to the recommendations.

Milliken's special message on Wednesday urged that new prisons be ready this year near Holland and Northville, and that two more sites at Kincheloe Air Force Base and in Detroit be adapted for prison use by 1978.

The new facilities are needed to ease overcrowding in present prisons, the governor said.

Michigan's prison population has swelled to 13,210, — 1,500 more than the facilities were designed to hold. At least another 200 inmates are expected by the end of next year.

Milliken said prisoners are being housed in corridors, classrooms and a garage, and the population is increasing as judges impose more, tougher sentences.

Milliken got a first-hand look at the problem later Wednesday when he toured Michigan's largest correctional facility — the 5,700-inmate Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

An aide said Milliken saw stark evidence of the crowding that prompted his call for new prisons.

Milliken's proposals would provide 400 beds at the St. Augustine Seminary near Holland, 600 beds at the Wayne County Child Development Center in Northville, 500 at Kincheloe and 500 more at a J.L. Hudson Co. department store warehouse in Detroit.

In a special news conference Wednesday to stress the importance of his prison proposals, Milliken warned, "We could have a very dangerous situation on our hands" this summer unless overcrowding is eased.

Milliken said he expects at least two groups to file suits against his prison plans. An aide said residents will fight proposals to locate prisons at Holland and Northville.

"Any legal action would have to run its course, but I would hope that the courts would settle the matter quickly," Milliken said.

The Allegan County Board of Commissioners, meanwhile, adopted a resolution opposing a corrections facility anywhere in the county.

Milliken Spurned GOP In Allegan

ALLEGAN — Gov. William Milliken went against the wishes of his own party in Allegan county yesterday when he recommended that St. Augustine's seminary, north of Saugatuck, be purchased for a medium security prison.

Last Friday, the Allegan county Republican executive committee passed a resolution strongly opposing the seminary site for a prison facility and requesting "that our elected officials reject" the proposal.

The resolution was mailed to the governor's office and area elected state legislators, according to John A. Watts, county GOP executive committee chairman. Watts said Gov. Milliken's office was also notified by telephone.

The resolution stated the committee had "faith in the reasonableness and wisdom of our elected Republican officials" and the seminary site "defies both reason and wisdom."

The resolution also stated "the environmental, social and recreational costs of placing this prison facility on the shores of Lake Michigan greatly outweighs any conceivable benefit."

The Saugatuck area, a major tourist center each summer attracts approximately 369 million in revenue a year for the county and state, the resolution stated.

conducted an environmental impact study required before a proposed remodeling project can get under way.

He said the study was nothing more than a "conclusionary" one favorable to the state and that it had been kept confidential until 5 p.m., Tuesday, in violation of the recently enacted open meetings law.

Earlier, Barry Mintzes, an administrative assistant filing in for Johnson, said that the inmates who would be sentenced to the seminary prison would be relatively young adults working towards release in two to five years.

They would have no pattern of assaultive behavior or sex or capital crimes or history of escape attempts, he said.

BLOOMINGDALE SCHOOL SECRETARIES

Decision May Take Two Months

BY DENNIS COGSWELL

Paw Paw Barea

PAW PAW — A decision on whether the Bloomingdale school board has complied with all the provisions of a Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) ruling ordering it to rehire three fired secretaries is expected to take at least two months.

Joseph Bixler, an administrative law judge with MERC, at the conclusion of a day long hearing yesterday, gave attorneys for the school board and secretaries until May 31 to file written briefs in the case. Bixler indicated that it would probably take a month or more after that for a decision to be rendered.

Atty. William Marrietti of Muskegon charged in the hearing that the board had failed to adequately compensate the secretaries for vacation time, insurance benefits, and salary increases while they were off the job, and that they have not been credited with as many sick days as they have accrued.

Marrietti also claimed that one of the women, Mrs. Flora Petrick, has not been given a position comparable to the job she held as secretary to the superintendent before she was fired.

During a break in the hearing, Marrietti said he believed the dollar amount due his clients yet was between $4,000 and $5,000.

Mrs. Petrick, Ann Martin, and Margaret Matthews, were fired by the board on Feb. 28, 1975. The MERC subsequently ordered them reinstated with back pay, ruling that the firings came about because of their attempt to join the Service Employees International union.

The board rehired the three women in May, 1976, and approved back payment of wages totaling $22,556.

During testimony yesterday, all three women said that when they were terminated they were given seven weeks pay — two weeks back pay, two weeks severance pay, and three weeks vacation pay. They said it was not clear at the time what period the vacation pay covered. Marrietti said that in computing the wages for the 14 months the women were off the job, the board failed to give them the three weeks vacation pay they had coming.

However, Mrs. Evelyn Buckholz, school business manager, said that in computing the back pay, she did give the women credit for the vacation pay. She said she figured the back pay from April 18, 1975, five weeks after the firings. She said this was done because the women had already been paid two weeks severance and three weeks vacation pay.

She also said a check of vacation records showed that Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Petrick had no vacation time left from 1974 which could be carried into 1975, and that Mrs. Matthews only had three days. Through the present time, Mrs. Buckholz said, Mrs. Martin has accrued 4 1/2 sick days, and that Mrs. Matthews owes the district 19 1/2 sick days, and Mrs. Petrick 8 1/2 days.

Marrietti contended the figures do not reflect the one day for each of the 14 months the women were off that they should have been credited with sick days.

He also said the women were not given insurance benefits amounting to $18 per month for 1975 and $20 per month for 1976 as were most other employees. Mrs. Buckholz said the figures were the maximum amounts allowed for employees whose spouses already have full health coverage.

Mrs. Buckholz also testified that prior to the time Mrs. Matthews was fired, Mrs. Matthews was receiving up to $63 per month in insurance benefits. Mrs. Matthews, who said the figure was $50.50, testified that she used the money toward car insurance, since her husband already had comprehensive health insurance.

Supt. Donald Dragoo said that none of the three women were given pay increases in 1975 when other workers received them because they were not on the job. He added however, that increases given Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. Martin in 1976 took into account the fact that they did not get raises in 1975.

Kay Johnson, board president, testified that Mrs. Petrick received no pay raise because she was considered to already be at the top scale for secretaries.

Mrs. Petrick claimed that a job of secretary at the middle school she was given when she returned was not comparable to the one she held as secretary to the superintendent. Dragoo said that to his knowledge, there was little difference between the positions.

At one point in the proceedings, Bixler noted that prior to Dragoo's hiring as superintendent in 1975, the district's record keeping system seemed to be a "mishmash".

Marrietti said during a break in the hearing that he had not been able to obtain the records prior to when they were introduced by the school board yesterday.

Readers Express Their Opinions

years ago this school district did have a reserve. The board suddenly announced that it had given a salary increase to all the people in administration: the largest amount to the one getting the most and lesser amounts to others also already well provided for. Teachers and other lower paid employees did not share in this.

Last year, due to an increased tax base, mostly as a result of an order of the state equalization board, our school board found that it did not need the 5.4 mill levy for debt retirement. It asked the voters that the one mill not needed be added to the operating levy. They did not explain that the operating funds enjoyed the same percentage increases without the additional one mill. They also did not explain that increases needed to compensate for inflation are well provided for in such valuation increases. Therefore the double tax approved produced an additional $6 1/2 million. The board promptly met and distributed the entire amount in salary raises. This time the teachers also shared in the salary raises.

The taxpayers of the Lakeshore district will have to get better financial control of its educational institutions than it has in its recent past. In 1976 the property taxes in the Lakeshore-Lincoln Township district were about $853 for the $20,000 equalized valuation given in the sample. Of that amount $565 was labeled on the tax bill as "combined school", which is Lakeshore K thru 12. Of that total tax bill of $853, $119 is for county needs and $71 is for Lincoln Township government. Special education gets about $34, Lake Michigan College, $33, and the township library about $10. From these figures it is quite evident that if we are to keep property taxes from spiraling out of sight that we especially need to monitor what the Lakeshore board of education is doing with our money.

I can understand that our parents want quality education for their children and they should have it. I can also sympathize with people who want good athletic and music programs. But quality education has little relationship to how well our boys and girls play ball or how many trophies they collect. Nor is quality education directly proportionate to the amount of money spent or the salary brackets of the educators. In fact, it seems that since we have finally gotten our teachers up to a respectable salary scale plus very generous fringe and pension benefits, we are getting ever poorer results. In fairness we must add that it is not entirely their fault.

Speaking of fairness, however, we could do with considerable more candor on the part of our board of education. The $90 increase they are asking is not apt to remain a $90 increase for the full three years.

Over the past three years we have had property valuation increases totaling more than 10 percent. Projecting the same likelihood for the next three years, what the board calls a $90 increase could very well become $66, plus $86 for the rest of the package which will bring the present tax of $853 to $1005. Or could we expect that when the valuation is increased the board will forego the millage increase for the balance of the three years.

A proposed millage is not easy to defeat. All the employees of the system: teachers and administrators, office personnel, janitors, maintenance workers and bus drivers, their families and all others they can persuade to come and vote for it will be there. Is money really that plentiful in our homes that all others can afford to neglect a

ROSALYNN CARTER'S ERA STAND HIT
Mrs. James Carter
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mrs. Carter:
I have written a number of times to your husband, the President, but to date have received no reply. Hopefully you will find the time to write to me. I should like to write you regarding the Equal Rights Amendment. When your husband was a candidate for the Presidency last January and he spoke in Oklahoma, State Senator Mary Helm received a reply to her question that he considered it not to be appropriate for a President to try to involve himself directly in the deliberations of the Oklahoma state legislature or any other state.

Then how is it that you are helping him to make his word "worthless"? The President, you, and your family and close aides all injected your "power" to pass the ERA in North Carolina and Florida and other states. However, the "people" are waking up to the horror of the ERA and they voted it down in both states and now there are still 3 states short for ratification.

If you will take a good look you will find in various plans for public places and military installations that there would be contiguous and joint toilet facilities. For a start check a booklet of instructions written by Admiral Zumwalt; also, the Florida State Dept. of Health and Rehabilitation Services). What about divorce laws? Everything points to putting the burden on the state and so the children will become wards of the state. Then everybody will be equal. This is easy to check. Please stop and think of the word "equal". You are the First Lady of the Land because your husband was voted to be the President; therefore, you, and your family have all moved into the White House. Since the people did not vote for you then you can't be equal and are not entitled to Secret Service for you or your family. Also, when he passes away you are not entitled to his Social Security but only the Social Security that you have legally received from your own labor.

I am urging you to stay out of the affairs of the individual states and also use your influence to have our hard-earned tax dollars quit going around our country to pay for the Equal Rights Amendment.

CASE #U-4840, #U-4621
TO THE ELECTRIC CUSTOMERS OF CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY
THE FOLLOWING NOTICE OF HEARING IS GIVEN
PURSUANT TO THE MICHIGAN PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION'S ORDER IN CASES NO. U-4840 AND U-4621 DATED APRIL 12, 1976.

Monthly hearings will be held before the Michigan Public Service Commission for the purpose of considering authorization to permit Consumers Power Company to reflect in monthly billings to its customers charges or credits for changes in appropriate items of expense associated with purchased and net interchange power from a base cost included in previously approved rate levels.

A hearing will be held on May 10, 1977 at 9:30 AM in the offices of the Commission, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, Michigan to consider inclusion of a proposed purchased and net interchange power adjustment charge of a negative 0.31 mills per kilowatt-hour to be applied to bills rendered to Consumers Power Company customers in the June 1977 billing period.

The hearing shall be for the purpose of determining the amount of purchased and interchange power expense incurred during the calendar month of March 1977 and the reasons therefor. Details of the calculation of the proposed adjustment will be presented along with a summary of net system kilowatt-hour requirements including details of the various types of purchased and interchange power transactions and circumstances necessitating any outages of installed capacity for a period exceeding ninety (90) days. This information will be available on and after April 29, 1977 for examination and inspection at the offices of the Commission Secretary, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, Michigan 48910, and at the offices of the Executive Director of Rates, Research and Data Control of Consumers Power Company, 212 W. Michigan Avenue, Jackson, Michigan 49201.

The Michigan Public Service Commission may either grant or deny the requested adjustment, in whole or in part, and may grant a lesser or greater adjustment than that requested. Interested parties may intervene by placing an appearance on the record at the hearing.

Jurisdiction in this matter is pursuant to Sections 1, 2, 6, 7 and 8 of 1909 PA 106, as amended, MCLA 460.551, et seq; 1909 PA 300, as amended, MCLA 462.2, et seq; Sections 3 and 4 of 1919 PA 419, as amended, MCLA 460.51, et seq; Sections 4, 6 and 6a of 1939 PA 3, as amended, MCLA 460.1, et seq; 1969 PA 306, as amended, MCLA 24.201, et seq; and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 1954 Administrative Code, Supplement No. 54, R 460.11, et seq.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Advance Broadly

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices advanced broadly today, extending Wednesday's rally.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose more than a point in early trading.

Gainers outpaced losers by about a 3-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts continued to view the upswing primarily as a technical rally after the declines that put the market at a 15-month low on Monday.

They also noted encouragement over some better-than-expected first quarter earnings reports.

Today's early prices included McDonald's, up 3/4 at 40; Eastman Kodak, off 1/4 at 63; General Electric, up 1/2 at 52 1/2; and Goodyear Tire & Rubber, steady at 19.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average climbed 8.14 to 923.76.

Advances outnumbered declines by better than a 3-2 margin on the NYSE.

Volume reached 20.59 million shares on the Big Board, against 20.04 million on Tuesday.

The NYSE's composite index was up .45 to 53.41.

BIG-CAR DEMAND GM Reports Record Quarterly Profits

DETROIT (AP) — Riding the crest of a big-car buying wave, General Motors Corp. has reported record first-quarter profits of $300 million, up 13 per cent from 1976, on record sales of $13.6 billion. GM's net earnings, equal to $3.14 a share, easily surpassed its previous first-quarter record of $217 million set in 1973, the company announced Wednesday.

Optimistic Wall Street analysts had been looking for even higher earnings — $320 million to $360 million.

The latest performance by the world's largest automaker just missed the firm's all-time quarterly earnings mark of $309 million set in last year's second quarter. That was the highest profit ever reported by an industrial corporation for three months.

GM earned $800 million, or $2.78 a share, in the first quarter of 1977. Sales in the latest quarter were up 18 per cent from $11.4 billion in the same 1976 period.

Earlier in the week, Chrysler Corp. reported it earned $75.4 million in the first quarter, up 4 per cent from a year ago, and the second highest profit for the period in company history.

Small-car specialist American Motors Corp. said it had profits of $2.5 million — double its quarterly earnings of last year, despite a severe auto slump. Ford Motor Co., the nation's No. 2 automaker, is expected to show record first-quarter earnings when it releases results later this week.

GM showed record sales and profits for the period even though unit factory sales of vehicles worldwide did not set a record.

Industry analysts said the firm's sharply improved profit reflected strong sales of high-profit big cars in the United States. GM and Ford are the leading makers of large models.

The U.S. new-car market is faced with peak demand for big cars and soft demand for small models. Analysts say many Americans feel this is their last chance to buy a large model.

Chrysler is more dependent on small car sales than GM and Ford, and that is why the No. 3 automaker failed to turn a record profit for the period, analysts said.

Similarly, AMC sustained heavy losses from its car operations but the red ink was offset by strong performances in its non-automotive fields — which account for more than half its business.

First-quarter factory sales of cars and trucks in the United States and Canada were 1.82 million, up 11 per cent from 1.73 million in 1976 but off slightly from the record 1.97 million set in 1973.

U.S. car sales were 1.56 million, up from 1.23 million last year, and truck sales were

Fire Breaks Out Again, Levels Barn

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A fire which firemen said rekindled itself from last night destroyed a barn at 2524 St. Joseph road here early today.

George Smith, chief of the Berrien Springs village - Oronoko township fire department, said firemen were at the barn about 7:15 last night and were recalled to it about 5:15 a.m. when the flames broke out again.

The barn, owned by Walter Ehrlich, 221 J. Kimber lane, Berrien Springs, was destroyed. No estimate of damage of available no one was injured.

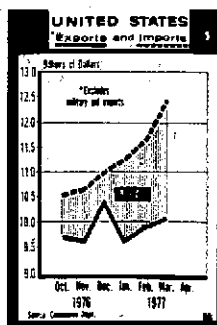

Smith said two buildings near the barn were saved when firemen hosed them down.

Firemen Quell Minor Blaze At Castings Plant

SOUTH HAVEN — Fire last night caused minor damage to a core heater at National Motor Castings Co., Indiana avenue, here, according to South Haven firemen.

Firemen said the heater set fire to insulation which had to be removed. No one was injured in the fire and production was not disrupted.

Firemen were on the scene nearly one hour following the 7:20 p.m. alarm.

TRADE DEFICIT: Chart shows record trade deficit of $2.4 billion suffered by United States in March, according to government report on Wednesday. Total imports of all goods were valued at just under $12.5 billion in March, while exports were nearly $10.1 billion, leaving deficit in U.S. trade accounts of $2.4 billion. Government experts attributed increased deficit to 22 per cent boost in oil imports resulting from an unusually cold winter. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

CanAmer Contest Entries Due

Roller Falls Off Trailer, Hits Auto

NILES — Kenneth Kelley, 52, Niles, escaped injury here yesterday afternoon when a steam roller rolled off its moving trailer and crashed into his car.

Niles police said damage to Kelley's auto was minor in the 2:20 p.m. accident at the corner of Broadway and Fifth streets.

Police said truck driver Michael Moran, 28, Wakarusa, Ind., told officers chains holding the steam roller snapped when he drove from the intersection.

The heavy machine rolled off the back of the trailer and crashed into Kelley's car which police said had come to a stop behind the trailer at a stop sign.

No citations were issued in connection with the accident, police said.

REALTORS FIND

Renters Also Buy Brand New Homes

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Association of Realtors has just come up with a finding that seems to destroy one of the oldest myths in the business of buying and selling homes. Based on the conventional wisdom, there is a hierarchy of home buyers, led by the existing homeowner who moves up to a new, more expensive home, leaving the resale home to a buyer who previously had rented.

Many a salesman measured his prospects in that manner. Because they believed the myth, commercial property managers often overlooked sales opportunities among renters. Advertising efforts often were misdirected.

Examining U.S. Census Bureau figures on its computers, the Realtors found the conventional wisdom was neither the convention nor wisdom. Previous renters, it found, were just as likely to buy new homes as were previous owners.

While this might not represent a stunning discovery to you, the Realtors felt otherwise. Ken Kerin, director of the economics and research department, calls it "perhaps the most startling and singularly important finding in our computer analysis."

Because of the absence of census data before 1973, the Realtors never before had been able to make such a detailed study of the homebuyer. Now that the study is completed, the timing couldn't be better.

Why? Because the market for housing is booming, and those salesmen who know their customers are likely to benefit the most from the opportunities.

To the surprise of a good many people who not long ago were reading of the depression in housing, sales through March were at an extraordinary, record-breaking annual rate in excess of 4.5 million units.
